'Operation Big Lift' Proceeding Smoothly

EMPTY DESKS — Classroom shows the effect of city-wide civil rights boycott of the Chicago schools. This room normally has 35 students.

Half of Chicago's Students Out In Boycott of Schools

CHICAGO (AP) — Nearly half of Chicago's approximately 470,000 public school pupils were absent from classes Tuesday, most of them staying away in what Negro civil rights leaders claimed was the nation's largest school boycott.

The massive civil rights boycott was in protest against what leaders called the "growing school segregation in Chicago" and against the policies of Benjamin C. Willis, superintendent of public schools.

They claim that Willis, one of the nation's highest-paid public officials and in his 10th year as superintendent, is responsible for what they term de facto segregation in the public schools.

The boycott with heaviest absenteeism reported in schools in predominately Negro neighborhoods, was climaxed late Tuesday by a demonstration by an estimated 8,000 to 10,000 persons who marched around the City Hall-County Building and at the downtown offices of the Board of Education.

The marchers, both white and Negro, chanted, sang and displayed signs. There were no incidents. Rush hour traffic in the Loop was jammed.

Willis earlier this month resigned his $48,500-a-year post because, he said, the Board of Education was encroaching upon his administrative duties. The board, which has two Negro members, rejected his resignation and Willis later accepted the board's proposal to reconsider.

Willis reported that 224,770 pupils in the city's 550 schools were absent from classes because of the boycott or other reasons. The total enrollment is 469,733.

The daily average absenteeism was reported as 73,918. School officials said that an undetermined number of pupils had been threatened with harm if they attended classes.

The board-superintendent conflict centered upon a controversial honor pupil transfer plan, set up by the board as a compromise to demands of Negro leaders for an open transfer policy to alleviate overcrowding of predominantly Negro schools.

'Wrong-Way' Storm Heads Toward Florida

Ginny Not Termed Major Hurricane By Forecasters

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Wrong-way hurricane Ginny trudged slowly today toward Florida's heavily populated lower east coast.

Storm forecasters nervously held hurricane warnings in abeyance, arousing a dim hope that the confusing tropical storm might loop-the-loop and miss Florida.

Hurricane hunter aircraft shuttled in and out of the storm, relaying a continuous flow of information to teams of forecasters.

Nearing Cape Canaveral

Near midmorning, Ginny, with peak winds of 80 miles per hour near her center, was located about 160 miles east-northeast of Cape Canaveral. The storm was blustering southwestward at 10 m.p.h.

"At least some possibility still exists that it could perform a loop and swing to the south and later on, to the east," said Gordon Dunn, chief storm forecaster at the Miami Weather Bubureau.

"Also, we must stress that this is far from a major hurricane," Dunn said. "It is indeed a minimal hurricane. Even if it comes ashore, tides and winds will, for a hurricane, be minimal."

Forecasters said it was impossible to predict Ginny's course more than 12 hours ahead.

Gale Warnings Displayed

Gale warnings were displayed from Jacksonville to Palm Beach this morning.

Tides from one to three feet above normal were expected along much of the coast from Florida to the Middle Atlantic States.

Forecasters said tides five feet higher than normal were possible along the middle east coast of Florida tonight.

After dawdling for three days off the Eastern Seaboard as far north as Cape Hatteras, Ginny started on a beeline Tuesday aimed at the lower Florida Coast.

The Red Cross deployed 85 of its disaster workers in cities from Jacksonville to Miami.

Florida residents, many of them with thumbs still sore from boarding up during the hurricane Flora threat, were caught by surprise. Hurricanes generally form far to the south and move to the north or northeast.

Warnings Are Issued

Small craft from New Jersey to the upper Florida Keys were warned to stay in port.

There was some erosion along the North Carolina coast but Ginny brought needed rain to the parched eastern half of the state.

As the storm moved southward, it became more tropical and the Weather Bureau warned residents of the Florida east

U.S. Said Ready To Okay Sale Of Corn To Hungary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet wheat buyers confer today with administration officials as reports circulate that the United States is ready to approve sale of 40,000 tons of corn to Hungary.

If the corn sale rumors are true, the deal would be the first to be closed with an Iron Curtain country since President Kennedy approved sale of subsidized farm products—particularly wheat—to the Soviet bloc two weeks ago.

The wheat sales, the chief item in Soviet-American bargaining, have been held up by haggling over the costs of shipping the grain on American vessels.

Trade and government circles speculated that both the United States and the Soviet bloc got out on a limb by stipulating that the wheat should be shipped on U.S. ships when they were available.

The President laid down the requirement when he approved the sales, and it appeared to be accepted by the Communist countries.

Since then they have objected, citing higher costs of American shipping—about 20 to 30 cents a bushel higher than foreign shipping.

This matter figures to be part of the table talk when the Soviet trade negotiators lunch with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Undersecretary of State George W. Ball.

The Russian group is headed by Sergi A. Borisov, first deputy minister of foreign trade, who negotiated the Soviet purchase of Canadian wheat in September.

The shipping requirement however, does not hinder sales of corn and other grains. Last Friday the Commerce Department exempted grains other than wheat from the requirement.

The Washington Post today quoted a grain firm as saying in New York that it expected the Commerce Department to take prompt action today on an export license to make the first shipment to Hungary. The commitment is expected to eventually total 100,000 tons of corn, the firm said.

Government and commercial sources appeared confident that the freight cost situation would not be allowed to interfere with wheat sales to the Reds. This was expressed at a news conference Tuesday by Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and in private by Agriculture Department officials.

Fog Causes Rerouting of Some Planes

Over 2,500 Troops Flown to Bases In France, Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) —Fog over Frankfurt forced diversion of five of Exercise Big Lift's huge transports today, but U.S. military officials said they were sure the largest long-range airlift in U.S. history would be completed by the deadline Thursday night.

Rhein-Main Air Base, receiving most of the transatlantic air armada, was closed for seven hours. But at noon a bright sun broke through, and moments later a C135 Stratolifter landed.

Four Planes Rerouted

Four transports had to be rerouted to Ramstein Air Base, 60 miles southwest of Frankfurt, and one C13t with 73 soldiers landed at Mildenhall, England, refueling stop for the propeller-driven craft in the Texas-Europe air bridge.

The planes began ferrying the men of the U.S. 2nd Armored Division — the old "Hell on Wheels" division — from the United States Tuesday in a demonstration of the mobility of America's strength.

The airlift aroused fears in West Germany that it was the prelude to a reduction of U.S. troops in Europe and that the United States would rely instead on fast airlifts to trouble spots.

To quiet such fears, a high-ranking U.S. official said in Washington Tuesday night that Secretary of State Dean Rusk would announce during a visit to West Germany over the weekend that the United States has no intention of withdrawing any of its 250,000 troops in Europe.

Aerial transfer of the 2nd Armored's men from Texas bases through the night, and despite the fog, 2,577 troops and almost 100 tons of equipment had been discharged by 44 transports at bases in Germany and France by noon (6 a.m. EST).

Troops diverted to England were to be picked up later today.

When the $20 - million air bridge is completed, more than 15,000 will have crossed the Atlantic, along with a composite air strike force of 116 jet fighters and other planes from Loring and Dow Air Force bases in Maine.

As fast as they landed, the troops rushed to staging areas and manned tanks, self-propelled artillery, troop carriers, weapons, carriers, jeeps and other tools of modern warfare.

The equipment, stockpiled during the Berlin crisis, has been kept in operative shape for instant use.

Rusk To Deny Withdrawal of U.S. Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk will publicly announce in West Germany later this week that the United States has no intention of withdrawing any of its 250,000 troops now in Europe.

The imminent Rusk statement, disclosed Tuesday night by a high-ranking U.S. official, is designed to dispel German concern that the current airlift of 14,500 American fighting men from Texas foreshadows some future troop withdrawal.

German suspicions were aroused by a speech Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric made last Saturday in Chicago. The Big Lift exercise, he said, may enable the United States "to make some shifts in the form of our military presence" overseas. As a result, Gilpatric said, the United States "should be able to make useful reductions in its heavy overseas expenditures."

Later it was learned the State Department had not agreed with that part of Gilpatric's speech but that its objections were overruled by the White House. State Department officials insisted there is no immediate plan for troop reductions.

Rusk's expected statement will be a reply to a German request for clarification of Gilpatric's remarks.

The announced purpose of Rusk's trip is to attend a meeting of American ambassadors stationed in Europe and to be on hand Sunday in Frankfurt for the dedication of a memorial fountain to George C. Marshall, the late secretary of state who charted the Marshall Plan for postwar European recovery.

Two Outdoors Fires Checked By Firemen

Foliage blazes Tuesday night and today brought out the city fire department which watered down the flames before they got out of control.

Leaves burning in the street in front of 631 Fairview were doused last night at 9:30 and a grass fire today at 5:15 a.m. was extinguished before the Painter Rd. blaze caused damage.

Area 41 Days Without Rain

Drought Increases County Crop Losses

Columbiana County farmers, in common with those throughout much of the nation, are experiencing heavy crop losses as a result of the prolonged drought, Don Myers, county agricultural extension agent, reports.

However, the county has not yet applied for classification as a drought disaster area, Myers said.

The area has gone 41 days without appreciable rain, stunting wheat, rye, barley and other crops

Myers said wheat planted recently is either coming up spotty or not growing at all, in many areas merely lying on the dusty ground.

Earlier seedings of rye and barley, which had started to grow, are at a standstill. With grassland dried up, cattle are all on fall and winter feed.

Many farmers are concerned about their wells and are conserving water as much as possible. Some are hauling water from other sources for their cattle.

The weather is rapidly drying moisture from the corn, which will result in an earlier harvest than usual, Myers said.

Christmas and shade trees may be injured by the lack of moisture and late frosts this spring, especially if the area experiences another severe winter.

Apples which didn't freeze in May are below average size. Potato harvests are ahead of schedule because of the warm fall weather. The potatoes are of good size and average yield, Myers said.

U.S. To Cut Surplus Food To Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States plans to cut down on surplus food shipments to South Viet Nam.

The new economic pressure is part of a hardened policy, the object of which is persuading Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem to reverse what high State Department officials feel is a trend toward totalitarian government.

Official Washington is equally concerned that Diem get on with the job of defeating the Viet Cong Communist guerrillas. The first evidence of the new policy was announcement Monday that further financial support to the special force troops controlled by Diems influential brother Ngo Dinh Nhun will be withheld until the soldiers are assigned to war duty. Some of these crack paratroopers led raids this summer against Buddhist pagodas.

TRIAL VERDICT AWAITED

LISBON — A verdict is expected today in the trial of Arvid Barkley of Columbiana, indicted for driving while intoxicated. The trial began Tuesday morning before Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp, who was charging the jury late this morning

The burglary trial of William N. Eddings, 35, of Pittsburgh indicted by grand jury for burglary at the U. S. Armory in Salem, is expected to begin tomorrow.

Lisbon Woman Hit By Truck, Hurt

LISBON — Samuel B. Thompson, 24, of Lisbon, forfeited a $10 bond in Mayor Dean Stockman's court for driving an unsafe truck after his vehicle jumped a curb Tuesday at 4:40 p.m. and struck Mrs. Jean Johnson, 260 W. Washington St., who was standing on the southeast corner of W. Washington and Lincoln Ae.

Mrs. Johnson's left blouse sleeve was torn and she suffered abrasions on the left arm. Thompson said his brakes failed.

Police also investigated a minor accident Tuesday at 11:05 a.m. at E. Lincoln Way and Jefferson St. Mary M. Chillik, 54, Lisbon RD 5, driving south on Jefferson, collided with a car driven east on E. Lincoln Way by George Sarapa, 58, of Euclid, police said.

John Darrah Gotschall, 19, Carrollton RD 5, was fined $10 and costs for having a loud muffler. He was cited Aug. 19, on W. Lincoln Way by the State Highway Patrol.

Clocks To Be Set Back Hour Sunday

Residents of Salem and most other communities in northeastern Ohio will turn their clocks back an hour this weekend in the annual switch from Daylight Saving to Eastern Standard Time.

The official changeover time is 2 a.m. Sunday.

Clocks were turned ahead one hour last April 28, so area residents Sunday will regain the hour of sleep they lost in the spring.

A number of communities in the Eastern States reverted to "slow time" Sept. 29, but the majority remained throughout this month.

Ohio Farmers Hear Freeman

Secretary Holds Give-Take Session

COLUMBUS GROVE, Ohio (AP)—At times it seemed like a church social or a New England town meeting, and comments ranged from those of an intense farm wife to those spoken in an oratory of an old time politician.

But for more than two hours Tuesday night, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman lectured, listened, joked and fired back answers to often irate farmers and in general gathered information here he says helps him determine what farmers want and are thinking about.

It was the 12th in a series of 13 review and report sessions which Freeman has held throughout the nation.

Freeman spoke briefly to newsmen, then talked to the packed house for about 45 minutes, answered a few of more than 100 written questions from the audience and then threw the program open for questions. He was not able to answer half of the written queries, but he promised that all would be answered by mail.

Freeman asserted that the basic problem facing farmers today is overproduction.

How to cope with it was another matter, he said.

"Four out of five farmers recognize the need for some kind of wheat program," Freeman said. "However, there is no clearcut support for any particular program."

He urged farmers who want support for wheat and other farm products to campaign for them. "The minority of farmers know what they want—nothing—and they are in there fighting for it," he said.

The secretary praised the Food for Peace Program, saying it may become known as this nation's greatest contribution to the world, but he said the present program is putting out about as much food as the countries which need it can absorb.

He warned farmers not to expect more huge sales of wheat like the one contemplated to Russia.

He called the sale a "one-shot" deal.

It was hard to tell if the agriculture boss won any friends or support for his programs, but as one farmer commented as he left the gymnasium, "He ain't all right but he ain't all wrong."

Protest May Be Lodged

U.S. Ship Strafed By Cuban Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has launched an investigation of the strafing of an American-owned ship off the coast of Cuba early Tuesday morning.

There is no doubt the strafing was carried out by Cuban planes. Although it did not identify the ship, Havana radio said its air force attacked a vessel in the area.

The big question is why.

Havana claimed the ship was carrying saboteurs and arms. However, it was learned elsewhere that the vessel, the bulk carrier J. Louis, was steaming from Ocho Rios, Jamaica, to Corpus Christi, Tex., with 31,500 tons of bauxite ore, the raw material for aluminum.

The answer may be in an account given the New York Times by what the paper referred to as highly placed informants.

According to this version, the J. Louis was attacked when she accidentally sailed into the thick of a fight between Cuban coast defenses and a raiding party of Cuban exiles. Possibly four or five MIGs strafed the vessel because their Cuban pilots "in the heat of action" believed she was involved in an anti-Castro landing operation.

The owners of the vessel reported no casualties during the hour-long attack. Flares were dropped to light up the target. Shells damaged the superstructure and hull and set up a fire in the forecastle of the 33,000-ton vessel.

More may be known when the J. Louis, with its crew of about 50, arrives late tonight at Corpus Christi.

The incident jarred the quiet of Tuesday's first anniversary of last fall's Cuban crisis. The State Department deplored "this unprovoked attack on a vessel navigating the high sea" and said it was investigating to see whether a U.S. protest would be made.

Registered under the Liberian flag, the J. Louis is owned by Universe Tankships, Inc., of New York, and is chartered by Caribbean Steamship Co., a subsidiary of Reynolds Metals Co., as an ore carrier.

Caribbean President Walter L. Rice said at Richmond, Va., that the J. Louis was unarmed and carried only its normal crew.

The State Department placed the time of attack at 12:40 a.m. Fighter planes from Key West, Fla., sped to the scene, but when they arrived all hostile activity had ceased.

N. Dakotans Elect GOP Congressman

FARGO, N.D. (AP)—A Republican farmer who campaigned against Kennedy administration policies now carries his sentiments to Washington as North Dakota's new congressman from the state's eastern district.

Mark Andrews took a slim early lead and built it into a near-5,000 vote margin over Democrat John Hove, a college professor, the third such match won this year by Republicans over the nation.

Andrews hammered away at the Kennedy farm, economic and foreign aid programs. Harking back to last spring's defeat of the wheat referendum, he has been a constant critic of Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, calling for more farm say-so at farmer levels instead of from Washington.

Incomplete returns from 915 of 1,076 precincts in Tuesday's special election gave Andrews 43,659 votes, Hove 38,690, conservative Republican John Scott 5,512 and independent Thomas Dewey 331.

Andrews, former North Dakota national GOP committeeman, stands 6-4 and weighs upwards of 230. Hove, 47, an English professor at the state university here, conceded to him at 9:30 p.m., 90 minutes after last polls had closed.

Victory by Andrews, 38, continued a near-perfect North Dakota record of sending only Republicans to the House of Representatives. Quentin N. Burdick was the only Democrat to break the chain since the state entered the union in 1889, winning a statewide vote in 1958 and jumping to the Senate in a special 1960 election.

United Fund Hits Total of $59,414

With two days left to reach its goal of $86,250, Salem's United Fund drive is 69 per cent complete, with pledges and collections totaling $59,414, according to chairman Ray Reasbeck.

The Professional Health team has turned in $3,782, which is five per cent over its quota of $3,600, and the Advance Gifts Committee has reached 90 per cent of its goal.

Reasbeck pointed out that the other chest teams have not turned in an appreciable amount yet and warned that the drive is scheduled to end Friday at 5 p.m.

Alliance Records 1st Fatality As Car Strikes Pole

ALLIANCE — Police reported the city's first traffic fatality of 1963 today at 3 a.m. when a Volkswagen, carrying two men, smashed into a utility pole at Main and Union Sts.

Dead on arrival at Alliance City Hospital was the driver, Stephen Belan, 41, of 1739 Fairview Pl., Alliance, who suffered multiple inuries. His nephew, Gary Green, 21, of S. Arch St., was treated for minor injuries and released.

The victim, who was employed as a machinist at the E. W. Bliss Co. plant in Salem, died at 4:25 a.m.

A World War II veteran, he is survived by a brother, Joseph Belan, Jr., of Salem. Services will be Friday at Cassaday-Turkle Funeral Home.

SOIL SAVERS AT WORK — These five seventh graders had a hand in helping to construct a model farm as part of conservation study in Mrs. Bess Cline's geography classes at Salem Junior High School. Pupils and the phases they were assigned to are (from left), Bill Eckfeld, contour planting; Cathy Holwick, hilltop diversion ditch; Machal Roher, evergreen planting on slopes; Jayne Patterson, farm buildings; and Fred Kloos, grain exhibit.

Model Farm Helps Pupils Here to Learn Conservation

By GLENN SCHOTTEN

And last (but not least) were the skunks.

The tranquil rural scene in Mrs. Bess Cline's seventh grade room at the Salem Junior High Scnool is not meant to be just pretty or entertaining. It's a lesson in conservation.

The model farm was made by Mrs. Cline's geography pupils to increase their knowledge of conservation of land and water resources.

CHILDREN EAGERLY toted in materials, including toy farm equipment, buildings, domestic livestock and wild animals. Mrs. Cline hauled in the soil. The children shaped the land with their hands to show how a modern, scientific farm is laid out to save soil, nutrients and moisture and create a balance. Even homes and food for the wild things were taken into account.

Terraces were put in. Green play dust became the grass strips holding the soil between crops shown by chili powder and nutmeg.

Using a washboard, the teacher showed how water is slowed by running it parallel to the corrugations but moves surprisingly fast when the water runs in the channels. This homey technique drove home the reason for putting in strip cropping, terraces and diversion ditches.

A knob of land on the model farm was provided with a diversion ditch copied after a Salem area farm. The water is shunted into a farm pond at the base of the hill, providing a watering place for livestock, a home for fish and other uses.

Evergreen trees were put on slopes to slow the racing water and to hold the soil in place. Multiflora rose fences held in sheep and bear fruit for birds.

MRS. CLINE rates the class projects as one of the best tools in teaching, since it is visual and many pupils have a hand in the making. That the pupils are impressed is shown by the eagerness to crowd around the teacher's desk on Monday mornings to tell about the conservation features they had seen on weekend family trips.

Besides knowledge of conservation, the seventh graders learned a multitude of facts about the farm that naturally arose as the project progressed. "About two-thirds of the class at the outset didn't know what a silo is for," the teacher said.

The farm scene led one country lad, Fred Kloos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kloos of Stewart Rd., to bring in samples of farm products for his classmates to see for the first time. Among these were corn silage, alfalfa and grains, including spelt, which is not commonly grown in the area.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Health Questions And Answers

Q—Why is it that sometimes when I cut or scrape my skin I heal and there is no scar and other times there is a permanent scar?

Dr. Brandstadt

A — Your skin is constantly replacing itself from the deeper layers outward. When it is injured the reparative process is speeded up. If the scraping is superficial and only the regenerative layers are involved, you will heal without a scar but, if the cut or scrape is deeper, a scar will form, the scar will be red at first but will slowly fade.

Many skin lesions, notably those of acne, chickenpox, eczema and mosquito bites would have no scar if left alone, but picking at them or scratching may carry the damage to the deeper layers and scarring will result. This is especially true if the scratching introduces infection into the wound.

Q—I recently had a major operation and have been home from the hospital five weeks. I am able to do light housework, but I still have terrific gas pains. Is there anything I can do to help this?

A—Gas pains are common following an operation, but usually clear up in five or six days, especially when the patient is allowed to be out of bed. Since you still have them after five weeks they are probably not related to the operation. The commonest cause is air swallowing and this is aggravated by eating too fast, by trying to force a belch and by drinking carbonated drinks.

Other causes are intestinal fermentation and the transfer of nitrogen from the blood to the intestines. Recent studies indicate that dexpanthenol (Ilopancholine), obtainable only on a doctor's prescription, or methyl polysiloxane (Mylicon) give fairly prompt relief to most persons who have this trouble.

Q—My doctor says I have melanosis. Is there any cure for this condition? Will a suntan lotion aggravate it?

—Melanosis is a broad term that covers an increase of dark pigment in the skin or mucous membranes. It may occur as freckles or dark brown moles or it may be evenly distributed over the entire body. It may be due to a variety of causes including pellagra (a vitamin deficiency), arsenic poisoning or over-exposure to X-rays. It may occur in pregnancy or in persons with a disease of the thyroid, pituitary or adrenal glands.

If your doctor has ruled out any serious disease as the cause, no treatment is necessary. If the pigmented spots are patchy and occur on the face, masking cosmetics may help to make the spots less conspicuous. Suntan lotion will not affect the underlying cause but if you have a generalized melanosis you don't need such a lotion.

POLICE CHIEF SUED

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Police Chief Stanley Irwin is the defendant in a $20,052 damage suit filed by a man who claims he was injured when the chief shook him and pushed him into a chair.

Raphiel E. Cook, 65, filed the suit Tuesday in Clinton County Common Pleas Court. Cook said he suffered a whiplash neck injury when Irwin pushed him into a chair Aug. 18.

UNHURT IN PLANE CRASH

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — Four persons escaped serious injury in the crash Tuesday of a new private plane at Sky Park Airport about two miles north of here.

Taken to a hospital were the pilot, Edward Giannone, 35, of Chillicothe; his two sons, Steve, 8, and Lee, 5, along with another passenger, Ronald Alexander of Chillicothe.

Vessels wrecked near Cape Hatteras, N.C., range from colonial galleons to Civil War ironclads and sub-sunk World War II tankers.

Lisbon Social

By ETTA MAE ALEXANDER

One hundred and fifty parents and teachers of the Lisbon schools attended the combined meeting of McKinley and Lincoln School P.T.A.'s held Monday evening at McKinley School and went on record to support the 3-mill school levy at the Nov. 5 election.

Mrs. Robert A. Williams, president of McKinley P.T.A., presided at the meeting, which was opened by devotions led by Rev. Ralph Green, pastor of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church.

Recommendations of the executive committee and the budget for the school were read by Mrs. John Rodu, treasurer. All were accepted.

Mrs. Raymond Moore, membership chairman of McKinley P.T.A., reported 326 members in the recent membership drive, and Mrs. Kenneth Apple, chairman of Lincoln School, reported 323 members.

THE THIRD GRADE OF McKinley School taught by Mrs. Charles Homan, received the banner for having sold the most memberships.

The O. T. A. attendance banner of McKinley School for September was won by Miss Nettie McPherson's first grade and for the month of October, by the morning kindergarten class taught by Mrs. John Jones.

The McKinley School fall festival will be Nov. 2 at the school, beginning at 7 p.m. Mrs. Paul Morlan and Mrs. Ed McKee are co-chairmen of the ways and means committee.

Dr. Raymond Weaver was program chairman. The high school quintet composed of Jayne McBride, Beverly Webber, Dawn Richardson, Cynthia Gibson and Jennifer Mason, under the direction of James Kennedy, choral director, sang three selections.

Oliver Payne, superintendent of schools, gave a brief talk on the proposed 3-mill levy.

A short personal biography was given by Dr. Wade Bacon, Atty. Richard Kennedy, both incumbents, Mrs. Gregg Ramsey, J. William Peterson, Charles Senanefes and George Berdine, candidates for the Lisbon School Board.

Mrs. Don Adams and Mrs. David Miller of the hospitality committee presided at the coffee period.

WILLIAM CONRAD, president, presided at the West Point School Parent-Teachers Association meeting Monday evening at the school. Approval of construction of a stage at the school was given by the 55 members present.

Representing the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, Burrell Reeder presented a 50-star flag for the school to Mrs. John Steffen, principal.

Candidates for Beaver Local School Board, Mrs. Veronica E. Wolski and W. Clayton Aughinbaugh, were introduced and each spoke briefly.

George VanHorne, executive head of Beaver Local School District, was guest speaker. He spoke on the school levy on the ballots Nov. 5.

The first grade taught by Miss Virginia Campbell received the attendance banner, and fourth grade mothers had charge of the refreshments.

The next meeting will be Nov. 18.

"ALMA MATER CITY Style" was the program subject presented by Mrs. Donald Carman for the Phala Moore Group, Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church, which met Monday evening at the Morgan House. Taken from the study book, "Church Spirals and City Skyliners," it concerned the effect of the church on colleges and universities.

The worship service was led by Mrs. Harold Adams.

Mrs. Bernard Smith, group leader, presided at the business meeting. Committee reports were given by Mrs. Edgar Kirk, Mrs. Willis Coleman, Mrs. Jack Stockman and Mrs. Robert Peterson.

Hostess for the evening was Mrs. Peterson.

The next meeting of the group will be at the Morgan House, Nov. 18.

The Churchill Cackle Club was entertained by Mrs. Floyd Pierce of Millport Road Monday evening, and names were drawn for the annual Christmas gift exchange.

Prizes for 500 were awarded to Mrs. William Burton, Mrs. Bruce Sullivan and Mrs. Lawrence Bush.

Hostess for the next club meeting, Nov. 8, will be Mrs. Burton of Caldwell Ave.

Robert Todd and sons, Howard and Ted and Dick Todd of Akron, visited Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Guy Peterson and John Todd of Canton Road.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Todd of Louisville were guests of his sister and father, the Petersons and Mr. Todd.

CURFEW IMPOSED

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) —A curfew has been imposed on persons 18 or younger until at least after Halloween in an effort to halt vandalism that has included spraying of paint and obscene words on parked cars.

The 9 p.m. curfew was imposed by Mayor Harry C. Bennington Tuesday following the latest spraying incident Monday night on several cars in a factory parking lot.

Cuba No Showcase For the Reds

A year after the Oct. 22 "eyeball-to-eyeball" confrontation between the United States and the Soviet Union over nuclear weapons in Cuba, the status, mission, even the number of Russian "technicians" on Fidel Castro's island remain foggy. The three nations involved seen content not to have the matter talked about.

The U.S. State Department this month refused to confirm or deny there were fewer than 7600 Soviet troops in Cuba. The first of these arrived in May 1960. At maximum, the number is supposed to have reached 17,000.

The Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba agrees that withdrawal continues. Westerners in Moscow have been told by Premier Khrushchev that only training cadres remain.

THE CITIZENS COMMITTEE insists the Russians are being replaced by Chinese and other Communists. But some reports state flatly that there has been little overt sign of Chinese influence since the Sino-Soviet split.

Edwin M. Martin, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, puts it like this: "Castro's heart seems again to have shifted to Peking, leaving his stomach in Moscow."

That the Soviet Union and its satellites fill Cuba's stomach is no figure of speech. Earlier this year Raoul Castro admitted the fact that nobody in Cuba is starving "thanks to aid from the Soviet Union."

Soviet bloc aid has been pouring into Cuba at the rate of $2.6 million a day for the last year, about a million a day from the Soviet Union itself.

Russia had mortgaged the Cuban sugar crop for years to come, but Khrushchev allowed Castro to sell a million tons on the open market this year, thus taking advantage of higher world prices and giving Cuba a desperately needed windfall of close to $140 million in hard currency.

NO LOVE is lost between European Communists and the Castro regime, as evidence by blunt words from Communist-bloc delegates at a recent economic conference at Prague.

Cuba was given an ultimatum to accept an economic commission from Eastern Europe which would have extraordinary powers to reform the Cuban economy and even the political system. Mikkos Hetvanyl, Hungarian representative at Prague, expressed the general disenchantment when he complained, "Cuba, which should have been the example for the Western Hemisphere of how socialism works, has become the prototype of how a rich country can be mismanaged by a few ignorant hotheads, who have the audacity to blame us for their laziness."

The Views of the Candidates

It should not be surprising, though it always is, that the campaign for the national election gets under way so long before Election Day.

In actual truth, the campaign gets under way the day after Election Day and never falters. What is happening now, in October 1963, is an early peaking of the 1964 campaign.

No one doubts that John F. Kennedy will run for a second term. And no one doubts that his Republican opponent will be the candidate who seems to the Republican National Convention to pack the most wallop. At this moment, it would be Sen. Goldwater.

This wallop factor is a fundamental truth of politics overlooked only at the cost of clear understanding of what nearly always determines the choice of a candidate.

POLITICAL parites want to win. They want to be in power. They have no principles that cannot be altered to suit their thirst for office.

Democrats can be irreconcilably divided over civil rights for Negroes yet join hands to keep their party in power.

Republicans can be split deeply over fiscal policies yet line up behind a Dwight Eisenhower, whose fiscal policies were a continuation of the New Deal's madcap spending. But the Eisenhower wallop was unmatched. He could have won on either ticket in 1952. Issues didn't matter.

This is the way it works. The main objective is to win. Issues are secondary. They always have been.

Remember this in the months ahead when issues are the subject of thoughtful reviews; when political analysts discuss issues as if the 1964 election hinged on them.

It is not that issues are wholly unimportant. They are vitally important in some instances. It's only the fact that candidates are so much more important that issues are overshadowed.

What were the issues in 1960? Who can define them clearly now?

Who could define them then?

THE VOTE in 1960 was divided evenly between two personalities. That will be the basis of the division in 1964. Issues will be discussed. To some extent, they may color the decisions of voters, though this is a self-neutralizing effect in a political contest.

In the end, however, it is not what candidates said but how they said it that counts, especially since television and, before that, radio.

People vote for and against men, not platforms.

Grim Statistics

Traffic accidents continue to be the biggest factor in violent deaths in Columbiana County.

Grim statistics from the State Patrol show that 25 persons have lost their lives in 16 traffic collisions in the county this year, not to mention injuries to 367 persons who were painfully hurt, some critically, in 221 other mishaps. The death toll is running four ahead of the same period last year.

This, tragically, is the pattern that runs consistently. Figures from State Director of Highway Safety Warren Nelson disclose that 127 lives have been lost in county traffic mishaps in the five-year period from 1958 to '62, not including injuries inflicted on 4,025 other individuals, some of whom were disabled for life. In that same period the property damage from the total of 8,273 reported accidents amounted to $3,774,710.

All these statistics must be faced realistically. No single motorist can be apathetic about the matter of highway safety. It must be practiced every living second, lest time slip by suddenly—forever!

Politicking

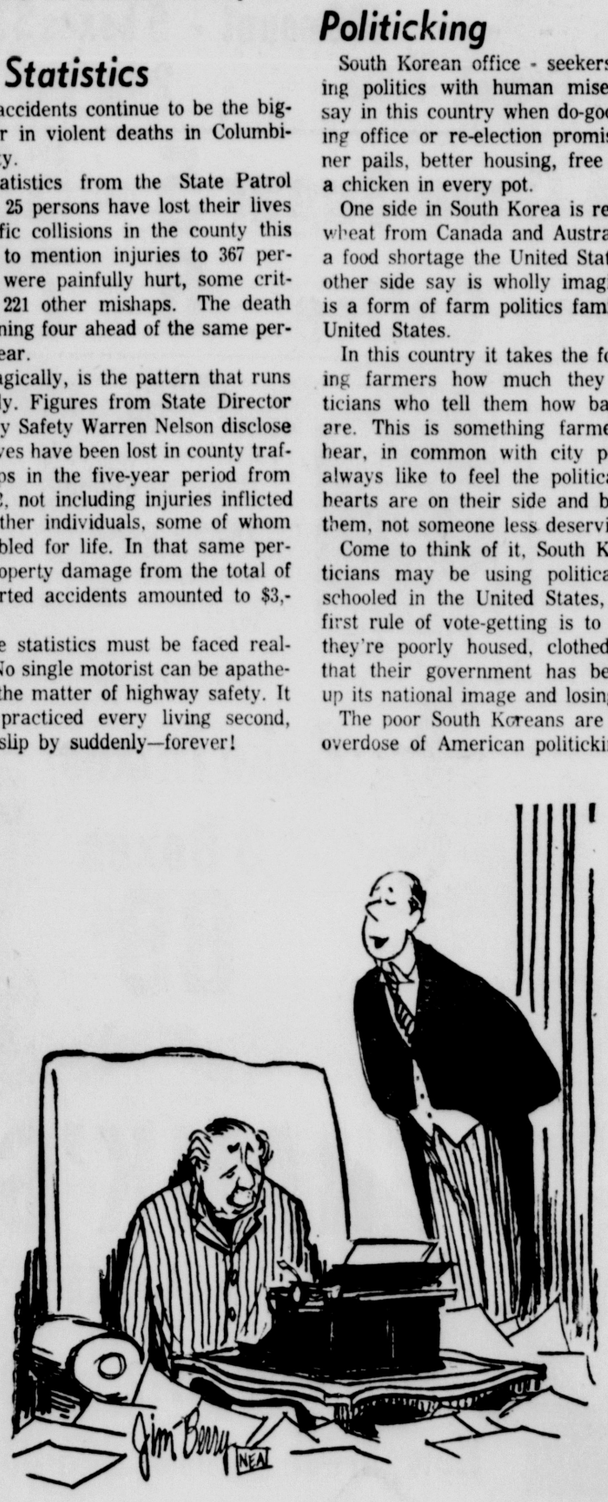

South Korean office - seekers are playing politics with human misery, as we say in this country when do-gooders seeking office or re-election promise full dinner pails, better housing, free silver and a chicken in every pot.

One side in South Korea is ready to buy wheat from Canada and Australia to ease a food shortage the United States and the other side say is wholly imaginary. This is a form of farm politics familiar in the United States.

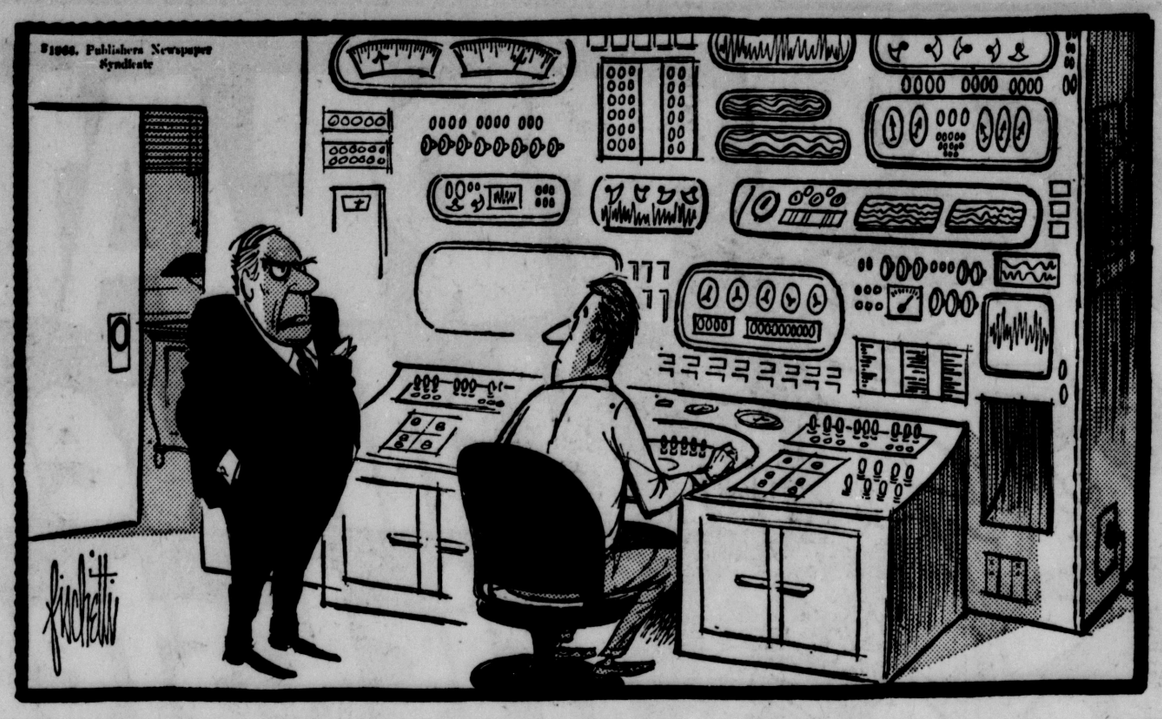

In this country it takes the form of telling farmers how much they owe politicians who tell them how bad off they are. This is something farmers like to hear, in common with city people, who always like to feel the political bleeding hearts are on their side and bleeding for them, not someone less deserving.

Come to think of it, South Korean politicians may be using political advisers schooled in the United States, where the first rule of vote-getting is to tell people they're poorly housed, clothed, fed etc., that their government has been lousing up its national image and losing its vigor.

ILA on 'Wheat Alert'

By VICTOR RIESEL

During the last three years, well over $132 million worth of grain and surplus foodstuffs just disappeared en route from U.S. ports to Viet Nam, Austria, Turkey and Colombia. These cargoes did not sink. They were stolen. They haven't been recovered.

Victor Riesel

International detective work has determined only that the foodstuffs were transhipped from legitimate ships to some global thieves in European and Caribbean ports.

With this massive case of the missing edibles in mind, leaders of American longshoremen say that what international hijackers can do, the Soviets can do better. That is, the Russians can pull a similar dockside sleight of hand, and U.S. wheat cargoes could wind up mysteriously diverted to Cuba and Communist China.

Such transshippment of U.S. food to such avowed and vituperative U.S. enemies, the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) leaders are determined to scuttle.

They're preparing a global and national intelligence system. A similar technique has worked before—and in the instance of Cuba, the longshoremen have brought in information sometimes more swiftly than has the Central Intelligence Agency.

This intelligence network will watch both Soviet shipping and the transport of American wheat and speed the information into the longshoremen's headquarters on West 14 st, New York City, which is under the direction of its president, Teddy Gleason.

IT WILL BE a simple matter to keep the Atlantic and Gulf ports under surveillance. It will be more difficult to keep watch on the Great Lakes to make certain that no Soviet or Communist bloc bulk carrier vessels come down the St. Lawrence and sail deep into the U.S. interior to pick up the wheat.

But each port, no matter how small, will have a special ILA agent or contact to flash New York if a hammer and sickle flag should be seen on any "mast."

Globally, the longshoremen will need the help of foreign sailors and transport and dock workers in the ports of the free world. These men are in a network called the International Transportworkers Federation, (ITF) headquarters in London. During World War II, the ITF served as a sensationally effective intelligence operation.

Soon the U.S. longshoremen will meet with ITF leaders in Copenhagen. They'll ask for help in observing any transshipment of the American wheat in ports such as Hamburg or Bremen — where the stolen foodstuffs have disappeared during the past three years.

AT THE FIRST SIGN of Soviet efforts to transship wheat to any port but the proper destination, word will go swiftly to the New York headquarters. Then it will be passed on to a committee of ILA vice presidents appointed by Gleason.

This committee is the official liaison between the union and a special committee which President Kennedy must appoint to keep contact with the longshoremen.

This arrangement was one of the demands made by the longshoremen when they reluctantly yielded to personal requests from the assistant secretary of labor, James Reynolds, that they reverse their position and load Communist cargo.

This ended a 35-year-old tradition of boycotting Communist outbound and incoming cargoes. The agreement was carefully worked out by the longshoremen with the skilled counseling of their attorneys, Seymour and Louis Waldman.

It's a five point pact between the union and the President for whom Reynolds was speaking. The agreement to load Communist cargo was not, it should be noted, unanimous. The secret vote of the ILA executive council was 18-8.

THE PACT gives them freedom of action—including the right not to load Soviet bloc ships.

The agreement makes it mandatory for the government to keep in close touch with the ILA liaison committee. Thus if the longshoremen's global watchdog group learns that the Russians are breaking their word, and are reselling the wheat or secretly attempting to transship to Communist Cuba and Peiping, China, the longshoremen can warn Washington immediately.

If the transshipments of wheat or use of Soviet bloc vessels does not cease immediately, the ILA then can order its 50,000 followers in the United States and Canada to stop loading the wheat.

Thus if the Soviets break their word this time, too, they'll be stuck right in their breadbasket.

'64 GOP Outlook

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Under one set of circumstances, Richard Nixon could be nominated for the presidency by the Republican national convention in 1964 — and under another set of circumstances, Barry Goldwater could be named.

David Lawrence

A final choice, as it looks now, will depend on the dominance of particular issues eight months hence. Indeed the delegates themselves will hardly know the prevalent trend of public opinion until convention time is almost at hand.

For the Republican presidential nomination will not be decided just on the basis of popularity polls or personality charm as appraised inside the Republican party. The decision will be related directly to the mood of the whole country in the summer of 1964- and not just the Republican mood. The delegates, of course, will have to be the judges of the mood of the country and of the candidate who fits it best.

Which mood then would bring about a Goldwater or a Nixon nomination? Sen. Goldwater's strength today arises largely from his hardhitting campaign against the Kennedy administration. He is trying earnestly to convince the country that there ought to be a change.

Almost every speech or statement he makes meets with instant approval among millions of voters who feel deeply that the Kennedy administration has failed them.

This is called "the negative vote." It doesn't concern itself too much with alternative policies or causes but firmly insists that a change of administration is the first and most important goal to be achieved.

THE STRENGTH of former Vice President Nixon, on the other hand, comes into focus when the assets and liabilities of the Kennedy administration are added up and the Republican analysts begin to calculate whether the president can be defeated for reelection.

There is one factor, for instance, which probably will have considerable weight. It's that Richard Nixon came close to winning in 1960. Several times in history a defeated candidate has been given another nomination.

A shift of a total of 30,000 votes in two states would have won the presidency for Mr. Nixon. But could he hold next year the voters he got before and acquire in addition a substantial number who voted for his opponent in 1960?

Certainly there has been a good deal of shifting on both sides since the last election. Many letters received by this correspondent from different parts of the country have been from voters who vehemently state that they would never cast another ballot for Mr. Kennedy. There have been any others who have written that, while they voted in 1960 for Mr. Nixon, Mr. Kennedy would have their vote next time.

A careful size - up of these shifts inside both parties will have to be made in order to estimate whether Mr. Nixon has had a net loss or a net gain.

There are, of course, certain major weaknesses in the Kennedy lineup of states even as of today. Thus the Solid South is sure to be broken again and to a greater degree than in 1960.

There is dissatisfaction in the North, too, on the administration's civil rights stand, for instance, and the Arizona senator is certainly the candidate who would be able to win many of question. Mr. Nixon has taken a middle-of-the-road position.

THE CHANCES are, however, that this particular issue will not be the controlling one among the Northern Republican delegates, who will constitute a majority of the convention. They have yet to be convinced that defections from the Democratic side on the civil rights issue are enough to lose the election for Mr. Kennedy.

The question of experience and training for the office of president is bound to become a more and more important factor in forming a judgment on the candidates. man who has sat in the inner councils of government for eight years as the vice president of the United States and who has become intimately acquainted with many of the complicated matters of international and domestic policies at firsthand will have a big asset to start with. If Gov. Rockefeller had not alienated so many voters by his divorce and remarriage, he would have been pointed to with favor by reason of his two-term experience as head of the government of the most populous state in the Union.

The question that may be expected to enter the minds of many a voter after the conventions have been held is whether a president with four years of experience isn't a better bet, even with his mistakes, than a man without any experience at all in handling top policy matters.

This dilemma would incline many delegates at the Republican national convention toward former Vice President Nixon.

IF THE COUNTRY, however, is in the mood to demand a change—either because of an economic recession that may emerge by next year, or dissatisfaction with foreign policy in general and the state of America's relations with Nikita Khrushchev in particular — the stock of the Arizona senator will rise perceptibly and he could be nominated irrespective of the argument that might be made on the significance of the Nixon vote in 1960 or the experience factor.

So if the political prophets of today can correctly analyze what the mood of the electorate will be in the spring and the early summer months of next year, they will have the key to the outcome of the Republican national convention.

Today In History

Today is Thursday, Oct. 24, the 297th day of 1963. There are 68 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1836 Alonzo Philips of Springfield, Mass., was granted the first patent for phosphorous friction matches.

On this date:

In 1774, housewives in Edenton, N.C., resolved not to drink or wear anything made in England.

In 1848, Samuel F. B. Morse granted a patent for his telegraph.

In 1871, the U.S. Weather Bureau inaugurated its system of displaying caution signals on the nation's seacoasts.

In 1945, U.S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes signed the United Nations Charter and on the same date in 1949 Secretary General Trygve Lie laid the cornerstone of the permanent U.N. Headquarters building in New York City.

In 1951, President Harry S. Truman formally proclaimed the end of the war between the United States and Germany.

Ten years ago—St. Louis police Lt. Louis Shoulders resigned in connection with his handling of ransom money recovered in the Bobby Greenlease kidnap murder case.

Five years ago — Sinclair Weeks resigned as secretary of commerce and President Eisenhower named Lewis Strauss as his successor.

One year ago — Soviet Premier Khrushchev urged a summit meeting to avert the danger of thermonuclear war with the United States over the Cuban question.

Matter of Fact

The jet stream is a high-speed westerly wind notable for its concentration into a narrow current. It occurs in the middle latitudes at altitudes ranging from 20,000 to 40,000 feet. Winds at the center of the jet stream can exceed 200 m.p.h.

The association of Christmas giving with Santa Claus or St. Nick goes back to a tale about the early Christian Saint Nicholas, who, according to legend, secretly provided doweries for the three daughters of an impoverished merchant who, unable to procure suitable marriages for them was about to give them up to a life of shame.

Ann Landers Answers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a boy 17 years old who has never had a serious conversation with either of my parents. It seems incredible that people can live under the same roof for so many years and never experience an exchange of ideas, but I swear it's the truth.

My parents are both professional people, socially prominent and well respected in the community. They are good speakers and in demand as lecturers. But they don't know how to talk to their own son.

I've tried to get my parents to talk to me but I've failed. They are polite, they clothe, feed and instruct me but they haven't the faintest idea of how I feel about anything.

My best friend's father never saw the ninth grade. He works in an automobile factory. His mother is a dressmaker. Yet there are fun and laughter and real conversation in their home. They are all friends. What is wrong in our house?—HIGH WALL.

Dear High Wall: In a word—on communication. The time to start talking to children is the moment they are born. Parents who don't think their youngsters have any ideas worth listening to find one day that their children are strangers.

Educated parents are not necessarily successful parents. No course in college teaches warmth, love and how to give and share. Such feelings are caught—not taught.

Big Spender

Dear Ann: My problem is a wife who is a spender. I work two jobs and make excellent money. I turn everything over to her and she gives me $5 a week.

We are forever being dunned by bill collectors. We can't afford a really nice vacation or a new car but we seem to have money for everything and anything a door-to-door salesman has to sell.

We borrowed money from my family five years ago to make a down payment on our home. This debt has not been repaid and I feel rotten about it because I know my folks could use the money.

My wife is a good mother and a pleasant person but Iam tired both physically and mentally with this disorganized, frustrating way of life What's the answer?—DOWN IN THE DUMPS.

Dear Down. Tell your wife the noble experiment is over and now you will handle the money and give HER an allowance. Plan a budget and stick to it. And please don't fail to include a monthly payment to your parents.

Another Vincent

Dear Ann: I just had to write to tell you how right you are. I was like Vincent's mother—wouldn't let my son out of my sight. I kept telling myself that my son needed me but I know now it was MY weakness, not his. Today I am sad and sorry.

My "Vincent" is 22 years old and he can't decide what necktie to wear in the morning. He barely got out of high school and he stayed in college three weeks and then came home—like Vincent, who couldn't stay at camp.

My son has no friends, either boys or girls All he wants to do is hang around with me and the other widows in my crowd. He is an overgrown baby and I'm to blame Thanks for letting me get this off my chest.—VINCENT NO 2's MOTHER.

Dear Mother: Getting it off YOUR chest doesn't do much for your son. This boy needs professional help and I hope you will see that he gets it.

Confidentially

TO SHOULD I OR SHOULDN'T I?: You should NOT. Tell him to take a long walk on a short dock.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. A. Lynn Browne

Nancy Evans Is Bride Ot Arthur Lynn Browne

Rev. Paul T. Gerrard officiated at the double ring ceremony Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of the First United Presbyterian Church at Lisbon which united in marriage Miss Nancy Jean Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evan E. Evans of RD 5, Lisbon, and Arthur Lynn Browne, son of Mrs. Ruth A. Browne of 367 E. Lincoln Way, Lisbon, and the late J. Homer Browne.

James Kennedy presided at the organ console as the bride was escorted by her father to an altar decorated with vases of chrysanthemums and branching candelabra. She was given in marriage by her parents.

For her wedding the bride wore a waltz length white gown of chiffon over taffeta with dainty tucks on the scooped neck short sleeved bodice. Rows of tucks also graced the hemline of the full flared skirt. A Danish crown of crystals and seed pearls held her elbow length veil of illusion and she carried a cascade arrangement of chrysanthemums and white roses.

Mrs. David Jamison served her sister as matron of honor. Her gown was a street length peacock blue chiffon over taffeta complemented with a matching feather hat.

Mr. Browne chose his brother, Warren, to be his best man. Ushers were Robert Hill of Salem and David Jamison.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Evans wore a dress of royal blue. An aqua suit was worn by the mother of the bridegroom.

Focal point of the bride's table was a two tier white cake trimmed with pink roses and topped with miniature bridal pair. Serving were Miss Carol Croft, Mrs. William McNeal, Mrs. Warren Browne, Mrs. Willis Gray and Mrs. Ray Davies.

The bridal couple left for a honeymoon to Niagara Falls and for her trip the bride wore a sheath dress of navy blue and the corsage from her bouquet. They are residing at 220 W. Spruce St., Lisbon.

The bride is a graduate of Lisbon High School and is employed by the display advertising department of The Salem News. Also a graduate of Lisbon High School, Mr. Browne is employed by The News as reporter-photographer.

Campbell-Blutcher Vows Exchanged

Miss Jean Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell of Washingtonville, and William Blutcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blutcher of East Palestine, were married at 1 p.m. Sept. 30 in the First Baptist Church parsonage at Winchester, Va., by Rev. Edward T. Clark.

For her wedding the bride wore a navy blue suit with white accessories.

A graduate of Leetonia High School, the bride is the owner and operator of Jean's Grocery Store in Washingtonville. Mr. Blutcher attended East Palestine High School and is employed by the Republic Steel Co. at Youngstown.

AAUW Branch Here Adopts Program Theme For Year

"Goals for Americans as Related to Our Foreign Policy" was revealed as the program theme for the year when Salem branch, American Association of University Women, held its first meeting of the year recently at the community room of the Farmers Bank.

Main reference book is "Goals for Americans," a report of former President Dwight Eisenhower's commission on national goals. Leading discussions of specific topics will be Mrs. Stillman Myers, Miss Nellie Glass Mrs. Harry Loria, Mrs. James Fisher and Mrs. William Talbott.

Mrs. Louis Mulbach, program chairman, distributed yearbooks for 1963-64 and Mrs. Ralph Dressel, president, welcomed the 22 members present.

Mrs. William Baker, membership chairman, announced that five new members and two transfers have joined the organization and that membership applications for several others are being processed. New affiliates are Miss Amelia Buta, Miss Kathryn Hanna, Mrs. Lowell Honeywell, Mrs. Joseph Reese and Miss Nina Ronshausen. Transfers are Mrs. William Bennett and Mrs. David Freshley.

A morning study group on foreign affairs is being organized. Members will meet at the Salem Public Library Tuesdays or Wednesdays. Miss Glass is temporary chairman.

Mrs. Dressel advised the group that the 1965 Ohio Division Convention will be held in Youngstown and that the Salem branch will be co-hostess, along with the Youngstown and Warren branches. Plans are underway for Salem's participation.

Mrs Richard Cook, past president, reported on the National Convention in Denver to which she was a delegate during the summer. She described the new program structure which was adopted there.

4 Areas of Interest

Under the new system, activities and discussions will be divided into four interest areas: Community problems, world problems, cultural interests and education. General topics for study in all branches this year will be as follows: Bridging the gap between science and the layman, the American family in a changing world, expectations for education and Occident and Orient Implementation chairmen for these topics in the branch are Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Frank Tarr, Miss Edith Forbes and Mrs. Everett Winegord, respectively.

At a board meeting preceding the program, it was announced that Ashland College and Bowling Green State University have been added to the list of colleges whose graduates are accredited for AAUW membership.

The board recommended that the branch offer assistance to the Salem Public Library in taking an inventory of books. Members who wish to participate should contact Miss Glass at the library.

Mrs. Cook, who is presently state fellowship chairman, was guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Steubenville branch earlier this month when she clarified for members the new program structure.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wallace Duncan and Miss Helen Thorp, social co - chairmen.

Next meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. Nov. 20 in the bank Community Room. A discussion on "Meeting Human Needs" will be led by Mrs. Myers.

Saxon Ladies Lodge Honors Two Members

Certificates for 50 years of membership were presented Mrs. Katherine Pauline and Mrs. Rose Lang when members of the Saxon Ladies Lodge Branch 18 held their annual 50 year coverdish dinner Saturday evening at the Saxon Lodge. Mrs. William Schuller, president of the organization, made the presentation.

The speaker's table, covered with white linen, was decorated with a bouquet of roses and mums in a large bowl and planters of white, yellow and bronze pompons graced the side tables. Mrs. Arthur Weber was chairman in charge of arrangements.

Following the dinner Mrs. Susie Herman gave a red rose to other 50 year members in attendance, Mrs. Martin Schell, Mrs. Anna Schuster, Mrs. Anna Untch, Mrs. Elizabeth Girscht, Mrs. Katherine Minth and Mrs. Mathew Beckert.

Games were played and prizes awarded to Mrs. Andrew Klein, Mrs. Albert Spack, Mrs. Peter Herman, Mrs. Fred Theiss and Mrs. Mary Cartwright.

The next regular meeting of the lodge will be Nov. 8 at 8 p.m. in the Saxon Hall.

They are the parents of four children, Mrs. Robert Shell, Albert E. and Andrew S. Durk of Negley and Harold C. Durk of New Waterford. There are nine grandchildren and four great - grandchildren.

Mrs. David Strabala

Haueter-Strabala Vows Heard At St. Phillips

Vases of chrysanthemums decorated the altar of St. Phillip Neri Church for the wedding of Miss Mildred Haueter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Haueter of Hanoverton, and David Strabala, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strabala, also of Hanoverton, at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Rev. William Appel officiated and Miss Mary Ann Furey was ed at the double ring service organist.

The bride wore a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace and peau de soie designed with wide scooped scalloped neckline and long sleeves on the lace bodice and the skirt of peau de soie boasted unpressed pleats and butterfly bow at back. A queen's crown of pearls held her finger-tip length veil of illusion and she carried a white Bible topped with an arrangement of white mums. She was given in marriage by her parents.

Mrs. Leo Strabala was matron of honor in a floor length gown of aqua satin. Her flowers were white and yellow mums.

Mr. Strabala chose his brother, Leo, to be his best man. Ushers were Wilbur Haueter, brother of the bride, and Joseph McAllister.

A reception in the church social rooms followed the ceremony and guests were registered by Mrs. Elizabeth Linder.

Wedding bells and miniature bridal pair topped the three tier cake trimmed with pink rosebuds which centered the bride's table. Serving were Mrs. Edith Edwick, Miss Nancy Milburn, Miss Olive Eoff, Mrs. Francis Cozza and Mrs. Evelyn Bernet.

From the reception the couple left for a honeymoon for which the bride wore a gold wool dress and the corsage from her bouquet.

A graduate of United High School the bride had been employed by the Church Budget Co. Mr. Strabala attended United High School and is employed by the Royal China Co. at Sebring

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strabala were hosts at the rehearsal party Friday evening in their home.

Hippely-Thompson Vows to be Heard

Beverly Farms Fights To Preserve Flavor Of Milk

Thanks to the effort and cooperation of the Alliance City Water Department, Officials of Beverly Farms, Inc. announce that the flavor has been restored to their milk. Due to the recent change from one City water source to another a slight aroma has been detected in Beverly Farms Dairy Products. Milk absorbs flavors and in the processing of milk, from washing of milk bottles to the sanitizing of the pipes in the plant a flawless water source must be used. When the City water source was changed and certain elements added to insure humann consumption, these same elements in turn brought the flavor change in Beverly Farms Milk. The fact that 12,000 gallons of water are used daily at the Alliance Dairy plant created somewhat of a problem however, water is now being trucked from distances as great as 70 miles and is being substituted in the plant for the present city water. For future protection a well is being considered for use at the Dairy, located at 115 East Milner Street.

4th Annual Cancer Survey In Progress

The fourth follow-up survey of the 1,439 Columbiana County residents participating in the American Cancer Society's nationwide cancer prevention study is under way, it was announced today by Mrs. Audrey Newtz of East Liverpool, president of the county cancer society chapter.

Mrs. Gertrude Sixt, area cancer prevention study coordinator, said 78 volunteer researchers will distribute questionnaires to the people who were interviewed when the study began in 1959. Mrs. Sixt said this is the fourth consecutive year that the original subjects have been contacted to complete confidential questionnaires on their health status.

The American Cancer Society reports that throughout the country some 1,079,000 men and women are being interviewed yearly in an effort to discover why some people are more likely to get cancer than others.

Mrs. Sixt said two of the original subjects in Columbiana County have failed to respond to the yearly questionnaire and are considered lost as far as the study is concerned. In Ohio, 2,675 of the original subjects (three per cent) have died, and in the Columbiana County study 27 of the original subjects are deceased. Statewide, 467 original subjects have failed to respond to the annual questionnaire.

Marra Is Elected By Hanover Club

Members of the Hanover Township Ruritan Club elected Joseph Marra to be president for 1964 when they met for dinner Monday evening at the Bethesda Presbyterian Church.

Also elected to office were: Vice president, Rev. Boyd Burd; secretary, Richard Stoffer; treasurer, Arthur Kibler and director, Elwood Sanor.

Rev. Burd and Mr. Stoffer were appointed to represent the club at the fall convention Nov. 2 at Sandy Valley.

Mr. Henderson and Mr. Thompson were presented golf trophies.

"The History of the Fire Department in the United States" was the topic of a talk by Robert D. Lewis, chief of the Wellsville fire department.

Liquor Dept. Closing Youngstown Office

Liquor Department Director Donald D. Cook announced today that the Youngstown District office will be closed as of Nov. 1 and all personnel and activities will be transferred to the Canton office.

Cook said, "this move is in line with the administration's concept of efficiency and economy in government. Because of the closeness of Canton to Youngstown and the small size of the Youngstown district, (it covers Trumbull, Mahoning, Columbiana, Jefferson and Belmont counties) no time will be lost and savings can be realized in other phases of the operation. It has been estimated that the initial savings will be in excess of $16,000 a year."

Plumbing Industry Strike Is Averted

Agreement over a new health and welfare program was reached Tuesday night by the Local 87 of the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipefitting Industry and the Youngstown Association of Plumbing and Heating Contractors, union spokesman John Kelly of Lisbon reported.

The settlement prevented an impending strike scheduled last night at midnight and capped 10 weeks of negotiations by the 550-member union.

44 Drown As Ferry Sinks In S. Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — At least 44 persons drowned and about 100 were missing after a river ferry crowded with picnickers sank today near Yoju, 35 miles southeast of Seoul, news reports said.

The newspaper Kyunghyang Shinmoon said only nine persons were known to have survived two hours after the sinking.

Police and villagers have recovered 44 bodies from the Han River.

The reports said about 160 persons, many of them children, were aboard the wooden ferry.

The children were from a school in Anyang, 15 miles south of Seoul. Their teachers and some of their parents were with them, the reports said.

It was the second ferryboat disaster this year in South Korea. On Jan. 19, 119 persons drowned when a coastal ferry sank in a storm off the southeast tip of the Korean Peninsula. There was only one survivor.

JUDGE DIRECTS VERDICT

A directed verdict for the defendant was ordered Tuesday by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard in the suit of the Travelers Indemnity Company, Youngstown, against the W. J. Moore and Son Coal Co., Salineville.

The insurance firm had sued to collect $1,948.93 in damages to a truck owned by Dillon Brothers Trucking Co., which was damaged while being loaded at the coal company.

DRIVE NETS $287

LISBON — A total of $287 was collected Tuesday evening in the "march on cerebral palsy," held in Lisbon.

Mrs Genevieve Sexton of E. Chestnut St., campaign chairman, was assisted by the members of the Y-Teens club of David Anderson High School.

Greenford to Hold Saturday Parade

GREENFORD — The fourth annual Halloween parade will be held at 6:30 p.m. Saturday at Greenford School, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Greenford Volunteer Fire Department.

Prizes will be awarded to the following various costume classifications:

Animal, bum, cartoon character, clown, fattest man, fattest lady, ghost, gypsy, most original, nationalities, skeleton, witch and space age.

Following the judging at the school, there will be a parade to the fire station where donuts and cider will be served to all persons.

Classitications in judging will be age one through 12 and for adults, 12 and over.

County Bookmobile Circulation Shown

LISBON — Lepper Library distributed 13,269 books in September, according to Mrs. Marie Parry, librarian.

The county library (bookmobile) had 9,194 borrowers, and Lepper Library, 4,075 during the month.

The bookmobile made 34 stops and loaned an average of 270 books per stop. High circulation for a day was 1,001, and the low, 3. Beaver Local grade school students set the high.

The bookmobile has the following stops — Beaver Local Public School, Calcutta, County Home, Elkton, Fairfield, Fairview, Guilford, Hanoverton, Highlandtown, Homeworth, Kensington, Knox Local.

Middleton, Negley, New Alexander, New Garden, New Waterford, No. 16, Rogers, Rogers School, Salineville Grade School, Southern Local Grade School, United Local High School, Unity, West Local, West Point and Winona.

Kindergarten Space Is West Branch Offer

The West Branch Board of Education has agreed to provide rooms, where available, for use of parents wanting to sponsor kindergarten classes, School District Executive Head Clinton Heacock reported today.

Mothers in the Maple Ridge area had asked for kindergarten classes and said 35 children were ready for enrollment. They will use a room at Maple Ridge school.

The board can not furnish teachers but will make space available where there are extra rooms, Heacock explained.

Rogers Fire Belles Plan Saturday Event

ROGERS — The Fire Belles Auxiliary of the Rogers Volunteer Fire Department met in special session Tuesday afternoon in the Rogers Community Hall.

Menu arrangements for the refreshment stand at the Saturday auction were completed and serving will begin at 5 p. m. Mrs. Leo Jenkins is chairman of this committee.

It was announced that special permission had been obtained from Mayor Robert McCreary for those wishing to appear in costume at the Halloween record hop dance Wednesday evening in the community hall to do so. He had previously issued a proclamation designating Thursday evening only as the official night for celebration of Halloween in the village.

Potters Association Plans Annual Session

The annual meeting of the U. S. Potters Association will be held Dec. 3-4 at the Pittsburgh Hilton Hotel, the executive committee of the dinnerware manufacturers' organization announced today.

J. Ross Buchanan of the Mayer China Co. in Beaver Falls is president.

CHECK LISBON BLAZE

LISBON — No damage was reported when village firemen were called Tuesday at 2:10 p. m. to extinguish a grass and leaf fire at the edge of the parking lot south of the courthouse. The fire started along the fence and several cars were moved before firemen arrived and watered down the area.

With Patients

Mrs. Clarence Schmid of Summit St., who fractured her back in a fall in her home five weeks ago, is in fairly good condition in Salem Central Clinic.

Winona Ruritans Pick Howard Bailey

The 40 in attendance welcomed James Menning and Roscoe Stanley into membership, and three guests from the Greenford Club were presented. Franklin Henderson presided and announced the club will help canvass for the United Civic Improvement Assn.

Other officers elected to serve in 1964 are: Vice president, Robert Coffee; secretary, Floyd Stamp; treasurer, Glenn O. Robbins, and director, Carl Herron. These officers will be installed in December and will assume their duties in January.

Program chairman, William Weir, introduced Nathan Harris who spoke on his hobby of collecting stamps. Harris displayed part of his collection and told the history of several interesting stamps.

The new officers were named as delegates to the district fall convention Nov. 2 at Sandy Valley.

The club will meet again Nov. 24 at 7:30 p.m.

coast from Daytona Beach southward to keep in close touch with advisories.

Winds were expected to increase in the Abacos and around Grand Bahama in the Bahama Islands and interests in that area were told to be ready to take quick precautions if necessary.

The Coast Guard reported that the powerless Navy destroyer escort Fogg, adrift since Saturday, was taken in tow by the cutter Chilulu off the North Carolina coast. The cutter Casco was escorting the Chilula and the Fogg.

The Fogg, with 10 men aboard was being towed from Norfolk to Mayport, Fla., to join the reserve fleet.

Butler Twp. Road Speeding Protested

Protests regarding excessive speeding on Tower Road were registered by several residents of the township when members of the Butler Township trustees met Monday afternoon in the township hall with Donald Cameron presiding.

The trustees will refer the speeding matter to Constable Virgil Humphreys.

Residents asked that the extremely dusty condition of township roads be alleviated.

Cameron announced that slag had been placed on Buck Road.

Albert Althouse reported that the widening project on Butler Grange Road is one-third completed and work is continuing.

A representative of the Ives Equipment Company was present to explain the merits of a cinder spreader manufactured by his company which the township is contemplating purchasing. He will give a demonstration of the spreader in the near future.

The purchase of 30 rolls of snowfence at a cost of $11.50 per roll including posts was authorized, and payment of bills totaling $1,187.83 ordered paid.

The trustees will meet again Nov. 4 at 1 p.m. in the township hall.

Trucker Cited After Damascus Rd. Crash

The Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol cited a Youngstown produce truck driver following a Monday morning collision between his vehicle and another Youngstown car at the foot of Blackburn Hill on the Route 62 Damascus Rd.

R. D. Delagrange, the investigating officer, arrested Emmett Reese, 53, of Ridge Ave., Youngstown, for driving at speed excessive for conditions after his Feldman Produce Co. truck struck the rear of an auto operated by John Krispli, 39, of Youngstown.

Reese's truck demolished a mailbox owned by George Perrault Jr. of RD 1, Salem, then overturned on the north side of the highway, one mile from Salem. The car driven by Krispli, a supervisor for the Ohio Department of Liquor Control, veered off the left side.

The State Patrol said Krispli had slowed for an auto making a left turn when his car was hit from the rear.

Cooking Is Fun . . .

BRAISED VEAL CHOPS

1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 6 loin veal chops, about ¾-inch thick, 2 tablespoons butter,1 clove garlic, halved, ½ small onion, sliced, 1½ tablespoons flour mixed smooth with ¼ cup cold water, ½ cup red wine, 2 tablespoons diced ham, raw or cooked, 18 prunes, soaked overnight and drained.

Mix together the salt, pepper and nutmeg; rub into chops. In a rangetop-and-oven casserole, heat the butter; add chops, garlic and onion; brown chops on both sides; remove.

Discard garlic and onion and excess fat but leave brown drippings. Add flour mixture, wine and ham; stir constantly over low heat until thickened.

Return chops to casserole; add prunes; cover tightly. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 40 minutes or until chops are tender. Add more salt to sauce if necessary. Makes 6 servings.

PASTRY SHELL

1½ cups sifted flour, 1-3 cup sifted confectioners sugar, ½teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon grated lemon hind, ⅓ cup butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons milk.

Sift together the flour, sugar and salt; add lemon rind. Cut in butter until particles are fine. Mix in milk. Roll dough thin; fit into a 9-inch pie plate; crimp edges and keep at least ½-inch higher than rim of plate because pastry will shrink. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 15 minutes or until browned. Cool before filling. Use leftover pastry for turnovers.

BEEF-VEGETABLE CASSEROLE

2 tablespoons olive oil, ¼ cup chopped onion, 1 clove garlic, crushed, 1 pound lean ground beef, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¾ teaspoon dry crushed oregano, 1 medium eggplant, skin removed and sliced, 2 large ripe tomatoes, skin removed and sliced, 1 cup grated cheddar cheese.

In a 9-or 10 inch skillet, heat the oil; add the onion and garlic; cook gently until wilted. Add the beef, flour, salt, pepper and oregano; mash with a fork to crumble and cook until beef loses its red color.

Turn into a 1½-quart casserole.

Meanwhile cook the eggplant in boiling salted water to cover until just tender; drain; arrange over beef mixture; arrange tomato over eggplant. Cover with cheese.

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until hot through and bubbly—30 to 40 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

ORANGE FREEZER COOKIES

1¼ cups sifted flour, ¼ teaspoon baking powder, ¼ pound butter, 1-3 cup sugar, 1 egg, separated, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 1 tablespoon orange juice, 1-3 cup finely chopped pecans.

Sift together the flour and baking powder Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg yolk and orange rind. Add sifted dry ingredients and orange juice; stir until combined Pack dough, a little at a time and very firmly, into frozen fruit-juice concentrate cans (6 ounce size); dough will fill 1½ cans.

Cover tightly; place in freezer for several hours or overnight. Loosen edge of dough with a knife; remove bottom of cans with a can opener; use bottoms to push out dough. With a sharp knife slice dough from the full can into 20 to 24 ronds, from the half-filled can into 10 to 12 rounds. Beat half the egg white until foamy throughout; brush over cookies; sprinkle with pecans.

Bake on ungreased cookie sheets, 1 inch apart, in moderate (350 degrees) oven until lightly browned around edges—about 12 minutes.

Cool on wire racks. Store in tightly covered container.

DATE NUT BREAD

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 tablespoon baking powder, 1½ teaspoons salt. 1 cup firmly-packed brown sugar, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, 1½ cups rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked . 1 cup chopped dates, ½ cup chopped nutmeats, 1 egg, 1 and 1-3 cups milk, ¼ cup shortening, melted and cooled.

Heat oven to 350-degrees (moderate). Sift together flour, baking powder and salt into bowl. Stir in sugar, orange rind, oats, dates and nutmeats. Add egg, milk and melted shortening; stir only until dry ingredients are moistened. Pour batter into greased waxed paper-lined 8½x4½x2½-inch loaf pan.

Bake in preheated oven at 350 degrees about 1 hour. Cool several minutes; turn out of pan. For ease in slicing, wrap cooled bread and store one day before slicing.

CHICKEN LEGS BAKED IN TOMATO SAUCE

4 ready-to-cook chicken legs (about 2¼ pounds) ¾ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper, 10½ ounce can cream of tomato soup, 1-3 cup water, ½ teaspoon ground thyme, 2 cups hot cooked rice.

Wash chicken legs. Sprinkle with salt and ground black pepper Place in a baking pan, being sure the pan is large enough to arrange chicken in a single layer. Combine soup, water and thyme and pour over chicken. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven (moderate) 40 minutes or until chicken is done. Baste with the sauce 3 or 4 times while cooking. Serve hot with rice.

Pudding Has Swedish-American Accent

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

We don't mind taking some credit for reviving during the past few years, a Scandinavian pudding that is both foolproof to make and utterly delicious.

We're not sure whether this dessert originated in Sweden or whether Swedish - American cooks in this country developed it. But we've found Iowa women of Swedish descent devoted to the recipe, and we've also discovered that it is used as a favorite dessert at Swedish-American festive suppers.

Now comes a new version of this delightful pudding, this recipe created by an ingenious California cook. Tried in our kitchen and served at supper to eight tasters, it won lots of applause.

Most cooks who make this dessert, in one form or another, serve it with whipped cream and we've followed suit. Other cooks serve it with vanilla ice cream, whipped cream cheese or sour cream. But this year we offered the dessert (made by the following recipe) with a rich soft custard sauce, and the combination pleased. So take our choice on toppings. A little of the fruit cocktail used in the pudding makes a garnish.

SWEDISH-AMERICAN PUDDING

1¼ cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon butter, soft, ½ cup finely chopped walnuts, ¾ cup flaked coconut, ¼ cup firmly-packed light brown sugar, 1¼ cups granulated sugar, 1 egg, 1 can (1pound, 14 ounces) fruit cocktail, well drained.

Sift together the flour, baking soda and salt

Spread the soft butter over the entire inside surface of a 5 or 5½ cup ring mold. Mix together the walnuts, coconut, brown sugar and ¼ cup of the granulated sugar; using the back of a spoon, firmly press this mixture against the buttered surface.

Beat together thoroughly the remaining 1 cup granulated sugar and the egg. Reserve ½ cup of and well-drained fruit cocktail; stir the remaining drained fruit cocktail into the sugar-egg mixture. Add the sifted dry ingredients and stir until completely moistened. Spoon into prepared mold.

Bake in a slow (300 degress) oven 1 hour and 20 minutes. Place pan on wire rack to cool for about 10 minutes; invert on serving plate. If some of the sugar mixture sticks to the bottom of the pan remove it with a spatula and press it down in place.

Serve warm with whipped cream or soft custard sauce; garnish with reserved ½ cup fruit cocktail Makes 8 to 12 servings.

MATLOCK'S GREEN SALAD

2 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons cider vinegar, 3 tablespoons water, 1 tablespoon sugar, 4 cups coarsely torn salad greens, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

In a small (about 6 inches) skillet or a saucepan (about 1 pint) melt the butter over low heat) allow it to cook until it turns brown. Add vinegar and water and bring to a boil. Stir in sugar and boil until it dissolves. Mix greens with salt and pepper; pour the hot dressing over the greens and mix well Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

MOLDED PLUM RING

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin, 1 cup cold water, 1 cup boiling water, ½ cup sugar, two-thirds cup fresh lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt. 2 cups sliced pitted fresh prune-plums.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add boiling water and sugar; stir until dissolved. Cool; stir in lemon juice and salt. Chill until about as thick as egg whites. Fold in sliced fresh prune-plums.

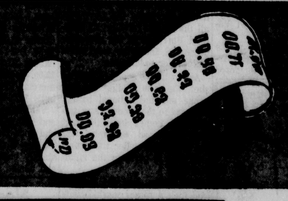

Turn into a 4-cup ring mold. Chill until set; Just before serving, unmold onto serving plate. Fill center with chicken salad and garnish with salad greens. Makes 6 servings.

News Oddments

By CHARLES T. BURNS
For Hal Boyle

BOSTON (AP)—When you're in the news business, a lot of people on learning how you make a living exclaim something like: "Boy, you get to meet a lot of interesting people, don't you?"

Well, let's see.

There was the time in Newark, N.J. It was our custom to eat in a certain downtown restaurant. One night, a friend pointed across the room and said "there's Dutch Schultz." It could just as well have been some German braumeister to us, but that name came up recently during the testimony of gangland informed Joseph Valachi.

Within a couple of weeks Schultz, or more accurately, Arthur Flegenheimer, was force fed a lot of lead, right in that restaurant.

Seems you do run into all kinds, at that

Again, maybe this is an oddment worth recalling. In 1933, when former President Calvin Coolidge died, it was the custom and probably still is, to sound minute guns all day at military installations around the world on the presidential funeral day.

And, at formal retreat, to let go with a volley of 48 rounds—it must be 50 now since it is meant to signify the sorrow of all the states. Anyhow, at Schofield Barracks in the now-state of Hawaii, the volley went off at retreat per regulations.

And, with the sound of the last shot, the rope holding the flag broke and the national banner fluttered to the ground. Any significance comes from the fact that Schoefield Barracks was the last place under the American flag to perform the ritual that day.

Then there was the woman who took a rather morbid view of old age. Upon her 111th birthday, a reporter asked the usual question about how she had lived so long.

"I'm the woman God forgot," was the devastating reply.

There are times in a newsman's career when he's out of work. And before public relations came to be a big thing, the only way to get a job was to travel around to the newspapers. During one such hiatus, there was an eyebrow lifting incident in a scrubby little restaurant in Nevada.

The man who had given the out-of-work journalist a lift in a ranch truck through the mountains insisted on buying lunch for his traveling guest, himself, and his son.

The driver had repeatedly told how you get three times the good you dispense.

Came lunch at 35 cents each—total $1.05.

Then the philosophical, but chance-taking benefactor, threw a nickel into the slot machine. Out came the jackpot — total $3.15. Three times the lunch expense, to the penny.

what YOU should know about

FLU

Nobody knows whether influenza will strike this year in the same epidemic proportions it reached in the fall and winter of 1957-58. However we must be on guard against a disease that is ever imminent and can prove so costly.

PROTECTION IS SIMPLE
Have your physician give you the simple protective vaccine that can safeguard you against the discomfort of influenza and possible serious interruption in your work.

This vaccine usually takes from 4 to 6 weeks after injection to produce maximum immunity, which is believed to last from 6 to 12 months.

MANY SYMPTOMS
Influenza may be accompanied by weakness, lassitude, chills, muscular pain, headache, fever, (usually from 101 to 103 degrees) nausea, vomiting, sore throat or cough. When any or all appear, go home and to bed, then check with your doctor.

GET PROMPT TREATMENT
Bed rest, aspirin and plenty of fluids are effective measures, but your doctor should be consulted at once so that he can be on the lookout for complications such as pneumonia.

BE PREPARED
Check with us for medicine cabinet needs such as a thermometer, aspirin, mouth washes, gargles, etc. We will be glad to give you professional guidance in making your selections.

Ever Make Pinwheel Sandwiches?

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Pickles can do a lot for sandwiches.

So many fillings benefit from this savory morsel whether it is served whole or used in relish form.

Chicken and turkey, tuna and salmon salads used as sandwich fillings, have good texture contrast and zest when they are made with celery, mayonnaise and pickles.

Another filling we like is cheddar cheese, mayonnaise and pickle relish. This combination is excellent for sandwiches whether they're plain or toasted. And when I was young, my mother would use the mixture for party pinwheels.

Those party sandwiches were wonderous things to us youngsters. A whole loaf of unsliced bread would be relieved of its crusts and sliced lengthwise—the quicker to spread with filling then the long slices would be rolled, wrapped in a well wrung-out towel and chilled. Just before serving they'd be sliced crosswise to make pinwheels.

Nowadays sliced bread is easier to find than the unslided variety. But never mind, you can make pinwheels with regular bread slices. Our only caution: use a spongy type of bread that rolls without breaking The firm-baked sliced loaves won't do for these sandwiches.

CHEESE PINWHEELS

¼ pound cheddar cheese, grated, ¼ cup well-drained sweet pickle relish, ¼ cup mayonnaise, 8 soft fresh bread slices, Butter or margarine.

Mix together the grated cheese, drained pickle relish and mayonnaise. Trim crusts from bread and butter the slices. Spread with cheese mixture; roll up and chill. Cut crosswise to make pinwheels.

Richard M. Sandrock, son of Dr. and Mrs. M. M. Sandrock of 566 S. Lincoln Ave., is on the dean's list at Denison University.

World production of recoverale silver rose 8 per cent over the 1959 figure in 1960, with the United States regaining second place in world output. Mexico, as it had for many years, led with Canada ranking third and Peru fourth with a large increase.

ARTIST'S ARTIST

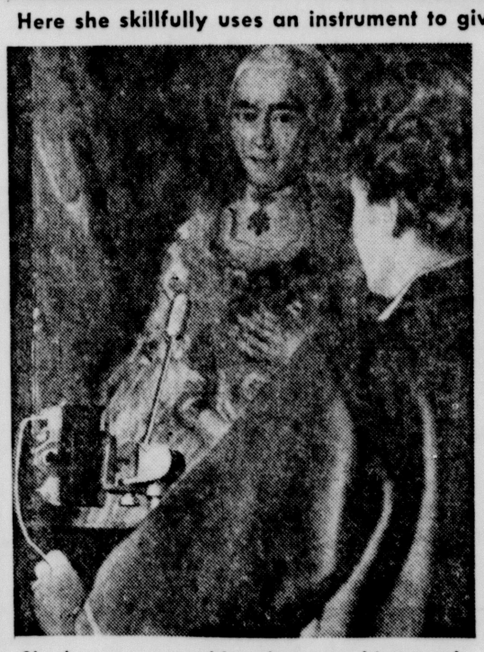

WHETHER IT'S a family or a museum treasure, Mrs. Josephine Lockwood of St. Louis, Mo., can restore a painting so dilapidated that most persons would toss it out. If the canvas is brittle and crumbling, she can separate it from the paint and fuse it on fresh, new canvas in place of the old. She has restored pictures for the city's Art Museum, the Missouri Historical Society and Washington University as well as private collectors. She mixes her own solvents and waxes and her retouching medium is a mixture of egg tempera and pigments. For very old canvases, she uses a special linen.

Here she skillfully uses an instrument to give an old painting an injection to seal surface.

Under a microscope she surveys the damage.

She keeps a record by photographing work.

She strips the old canvas and then puts on the new backing.

Solvents help to clean canvas.

New York Yankees Elevate Houk To General Manager

Berra May Be New Field Boss

Hamey Announces His Retirement

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees youth movement had extended to the front office today with the naming of Ralph Houk as general manager and the imminent announcement that Yogi Berra would succeed Houk as field leader.

Houk, 44, received his promotion Tuesday. The announcement of the 38-year-old Berra's appointment as the 17th manager in Yankee history is expected to be made at a news conference Thursday.

All principals except Berra were present Tuesday at an elaborate news conference in a plush midtown hotel where Roy Hamey tearfully announced his retirement as general manager and club president Dan Topping named Houk as Hamey's successor.

Led Club To 3 Pennants

Houk, who led the club to three pennants and two World Series championships in three years at the helm, acknowledged his successor had been chosen but refused to reveal his identity.

Another Yankee official, however, informed The Associated Press that Berra was the man. Yogi, who served a year's apprenticeship as a coach last season, in his 17th year with the Yankees, could not be reached for comment.

Houk was given a four-year contract calling for an annual salary of $50,000. Berra, who has been earning from $40,000-to-$50,000 a year as a player for the past eight or nine years, is expected to sign a two-year contract for around $45,000.

"I accepted the front office job because it presents a challenge to me," said Houk. "I just hope I can do the job for the next manager as well as Hamey has done for me."

First Approached In 1962

Houk said he was first approached about the new job as far back as October 1962, during the World Series between the Yankees and San Francisco Giants.

The final decision was reached in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., during spring training in 1963.

The saddest man at the press conference was Hamey, who gave ill health as his reason for retirement.

"I had been thinking of retiring as far back as five years ago," he said "I made up my mind definitely in July of 1962 after I got out of the hospital."

Hamey, 61, underwent a gall bladder operation that summer. He succeeded George Weiss as general manager in October 1960.

Jimmy Foxx Stricken With Heart Ailment

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jimmy Foxx, 56, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, was stricken with a heart ailment Tuesday. A spokesman at Faith hospital in St. Louis said today his condition was satisfactory.

Foxx, who compiled a lifetime batting average of .325 over a 20-year span in the major leagues, suffered a mild heart attack in September of 1959.

The former slugger came to St. Louis Sunday to attend testimonial dinner for Stan Musial, the St. Louis Cardinal star who retired at the end of the past season.

SOMETHING NEW, SOMETHING OLD

Signal Caller Has Had Great Success

Quarterback Ryan Gives Collier Fits When He Runs With Football

CLEVELAND (AP)— Quarterback Frank Ryan's habit of running the ball when his receivers are covered has given Coach Blanton Collier of the Cleveland Browns a mild case of nerves on such occasions, to say the least.

But it's tough to argue with success, and that's how welly Ryan has run the ball.

Collier said Tuesday he cringes each time Ryan hotfoots it but that he has no plans to forbid Ryan from running.

"I've suggested that he ground the football more when the receivers are covered," Collier said. "This is not only to prevent injury. Passers trying to run sometimes have to take a big loss. You should never take yourself out of field goal territory this way."

What goes through Collier's mind when he sees his able quarterback dropped by several huge tacklers?"

"When he's made a good gain I'm glad that he ran," the coach said. "That is, after I see him getting up off the ground."

Made 93 Yards In 31 Tries

In six games, Ryan has run 31 times for a net gain of 93 yards and has scored two touchdowns. Only Jim Brown and Ernie Green, the regular running backs, have carried more times.

Ryan has come through unscathed except for two occasions. He was kicked in the leg once and once scraped the elbow on his throwing arm.

Average 7.4 Per Carry

There simply is no stopping that Jimmy Brown. In six games, the Cleveland fullback has gained 931 yards on 126 rushes, an average of 7.4 yards per try. With the exception of Green Bay, no other team has gained as much yardage on the ground as Brown all by himself.

Brown's lead over runner-up Jim Taylor of Green Bay is 540 yards (931 to 391), a figure the entire Detroit club has not been able to pick up running.

Despite the runaway rushing statistics, Brown is having a tight battle for the scoring lead. Jimmy has 66 on his 11 touchdowns but Lou Michaels, Pittsburgh's place kicker has 57 points on 15 conversions and 14 field goals.

Y. A. Tittle of the New York Giants sharpened up with four TD passes against Dallas last Sunday and retained his passing lead, based on a complicated formula that considers several departments.

Leetonia Group Is 3-1; 7th Graders, 2-0-1

Leetonia Orchard Hill 8th Graders Face United

The eighth grade Orchard Hill football team will go after its fourth victory of the season, when it entertains United Thursday at 4 p.m.

The Leetonia group has knocked off Sebring, 14-0; Columbiana, 12-0 and Greenford, 28-0. The Bear cubs suffered their only loss to Lisbon 14-0.

The eighth grade unit is coached by Tom Tatterson. The roster includes Dave Coleman, Richard Bloor, Terry Kornbau, Danny Sommers, Jim DeJane, Tom Coseno, Dan Bell, Dave Brown, Howard Stouffer, George Holisky, John Woods, Jim McCoy, Tom Selway, Paul Miller, Fred Bruderly, Ray Jones, Pat Mango, Bob Perry, Mike Mancuso, Kenny Entriken, and managers Rick McCoy, Norman Kegelmyer and Jay Bland.

In charge of the seventh grade squad at Orchard Hill is Donald Hoover, who had guided the group to victories over Sebring, 14-0 and Beaver Local 14-6. The teams also tied Lisbon, 0-0.

Cheerleaders for the eighth grade are Billie Navojosky, Susan Slocum, Connie Exten, Jeffie Gologram and Jane Altomore, and for the seventh grade Jo Otto, Linda Snyder and Marianne Ginther.

High Scores Turned In by Local Marksmen

Salem and Lisbon marksmen were among the leaders in the Tuscarora Trail Muzzle Loading Club shoot held recently. A total of 52 persons participated from Michigan, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

In the 25-yard offhand event, five shots at the target, Dave Kirby of Salem was second, and James Ivan of Salem placed third. Kirby was third in the grand aggregate of bench rest and offhand match.

Tom Pike of Lisbon was first in the aggregate bench rest even and he was third in the 100-yard bench rest, 21-lb. limit shoot.

Carl Bauman of Salem was second in the 50-yard bench rest, 12-lb. limit, shoot; second in the 50-yard bench rest, no weight limit, match; second in the aggregate bench rest, and second in the slug gun matches.

Red Maher scored 30 points against Kalamazoo in 1923 and it's still a Notre Dame football record.

Navy Is Favorite For Battle With Unbeaten Pittsburgh Saturday

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Chancellor Litchfield called a press conference last week and formally turned the unbeaten Pittsburgh football team back over to Coach John Michelosen.

It is just the Panthers' hard luck that this weekend they are the guests of Navy, where Coach Wayne Hardin has turned the offense over to Roger Staubach, the Middies' scrambling quarterback. He'll find a way of putting the first defeat on the Pitt record.

A week ago, there were 42 correct picks out of 50 decisions for an .840 average. That lifted the season's figures to 185-65 for .740.

Here are the other winners this weekend:

Texas over Rice: The Longhorns, still unbeaten after mastering two traditional rivals on successive weekends, get revenge for last year's 14-14 tie with the Owls.

Wisconsin over Ohio State: Harold Brandt's passing will remind the Buckeyes of last week's massacre by Southern California.

Illinois over UCLA: The Illini youngsters have played the more rugged schedule and have the better record. This is a Friday night affair.

Mississippi over Vanderbilt: Vanderbilt has scored only three touchdowns in five games.

Alabama over Houston: Joe Namath and Mike Fracchia will produce a lopsided Alabama triumph.

Oklahoma over Kansas State: Jim Grisham to romp through the tissue-thin Kansas State line.

Northwestern over Michigan State: The home field gives Tom Myers and his Northwestern mates a slight edge. They will need it.

Syracuse over Oregon State: The Coast team's Vern Burke likely will be the game's outstanding player but Syracuse has the better all-around equipment.

Southern California over California: The Trojans can taper off from their form of a week ago against Ohio State and still master the Bears by the margin of a field goal.

North Carolina State over Duke: State's powerful interior linemen should pull this one out for the benefit of the Raleigh crowd.

Florida over Louisiana State: Florida's walking wounded have recovered since spilling Alabama but LSU's Pat Screen is out of action.

Notre Dame over Stanford: The Irish get tougher each week. You can see for yourself on the television screen.

11th Annual Canada Cup Matches Start Thursday

Palmer, Nicklaus Face Golfers From 33 Nations At Paris Event

PARIS (AP) — It's America's Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus against the field Thursday when top golfers of 33 nations tee off over one of Louis IV's old cow pastures in the 11th annual Canada Cup and International Trophy golf matches.

"I just don't see how anyone can beat Arnie and Jack on this course," said left-hander Bob Charles of New Zealand, the British Open champion. "There is no penalty for a wild shot. They can just stand up there and crank it."

Gary Player of South Africa agreed.

Thus the odds swung heavily in favor of Palmer, all-time leading money winner, and Nicklaus, at 23 winner of the U.S. Masters, Open and PGA crowns, in the annual international competition among hand-picked two-man teams from all parts of the world.

The four-day, 72-hole tournament opens at 9 a.m. Thursday over the 6,834-yard, par 72 Saint-nom-la-Breteche course, which only recently was carved out of grazing grounds and potato patches of Louis XIV's farm yards near Versailles.

Thrown together as partners for the first time but still keen rivals for world golf honors, Palmer and Nicklaus are aware of their rather unusual situation.

Duke's Jay Wilkinson Named Back of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Duke's Jay Wilkinson was named Back of the Week today by The Associated Press for a brilliant one-man show that earned this tribute from losing Clemson Coach Frank Howard:

"I am damned glad I don't have to look at that Wilkinson any more — he's a great runner."

Howard had to look for four periods as Wilkinson, although weakened by a virus and still slowed by a leg injury suffered the previous week, led the Blue Devils to a 35-30 triumph that earned him the Back of the Week designation in a close battle with Georgia passing whiz Larry Rakestraw.

Wilkinson, son of Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma coach raced 67 yards for one touchdown, scored a second on a 28-year pass and set up a third with a 69-yard kickoff return. In all, he rushed for 114 yards in 14 carries and returned two kickoffs 99 yards.

Rakestraw set an NCAA record and three Southeastern Conference records in Georgia's 31-14 victory over Miami of Florida. The Bulldog quarterback amassed an NCAA record of 407 yards in the air as he completed 25 passes.

His passing yardage and number of completions broke SEC records and he tacked on seven yards running to break the SEC total yardage mark.

Yanks' New Front Office Man Houk Never Scolded Players

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Houk has been known to clamp his teeth on a cigar and bite it in half. But he never has chewed out a player.

He was never more than a third-string catcher. But he became manager of the New York Yankees. He was a war hero. But he shrugs off his achievements. He never wanted a job in the front office.

But he has it.

The 44-year-old Kansan who speaks softly but does not carry a big stick was elevated Tuesday to the post of general manager in the Yankee organization, completing a trip through the ranks that began 25 years ago.

In the fall of 1938, Houk was 19, fond of baseball, football and track. Scout Bill Essick made him a Yankee, on paper. In fact, the years ahead were to mold Houk into the prototype of what Yankee has come to mean in the world of baseball—success.

It was not always easy. He broke in at Neosho, Mo., in 1939, and hit .286. He never hit much higher. He went up the ladder — Joplin, Binghampton, Augusta, Kansas City, Beaumont.

Typical of Houk is the fact he started in the Army as a private, went overseas as a lieutenant and came home a major.

He was at Omaha Beach during the invasion of France, and he fought at Remagen Bridge and the Battle of the Bulge. His chest had the Silver Star, Bronze Star and Purple Heart. His helmet had a hole in it—the work of a sniper three days before it was all over.

Back in baseball, Houk finally got to the Yankees as a player in 1947. But he never got very far. Yogi Berra was the regular catcher.

From 1947 to 1954, Houk played in only 91 games. But he was progressing, even if there were no visible signs. The Yankees were grooming him.

He was assigned to manage the Yankees' Denver farm club and he began to develop into the man he is today—shrwed, efficient, a straight-talker, down to earth. Then came his apprenticeship with the Yankees, under Casey Stengel.

He served three years as a coach. When Stengel was forced out, there was no question who would take over. The day he became manager Houk felt inclined to explain that Ralph Houk was Ralph Houk. He said:

"I am not Casey Stengel. The fans will have to accept me, as best they can for what I am as a manager and not as an imitation."

"He knows what's going on all the time," said coach Frank Crosetti. "Nothing escapes him. He is patient He doesn't chew out players. If he decides a player should be lectured, he does it behind locked doors and nobody knows about it unless the player himself talks."

SIGNAL FIRE — The Olympic flame is lit at ceremonies marking completion of expansion of Tokyo stadium to accomodate 72,000 persons for the 1964 Olympic games.

OLYMPIC WARM-UP — Germany's Jutta Heine does the 80-meter hurdles in 11.1 seconds, as the Tokyo Pre-Olympic International Sports Meet opens.

Barnes also posted the high individual game 242. Glenn Robbins and Wes Hanna each had a 226 game.

Beaver Boosters Purchase Helmets

Twenty-four new football helmets have been purchased for the 7th and 8th grade team by the Beaver Local Booster Club, it was announced when 30 members of that organization met Tuesday evening in the Beaver High School.

James McLaughlin presided and bills totaling $147.04 were approved for payment.

The club will cater a dinner for the International Brotherhood of Potters at Potters Hall Nov. 2, with Mrs. Charles Smith as chairman in charge of the arrangements

Plans were made for the annual Beaver football banquet Nov. 12 at 6:30 p.m. in the high school gymnasium. This will be a coverdish dinner with meat, rolls and beverage being furnished by the club. Mrs. Leo Jenkins, Mrs Charles Hoppel and Mrs. Warren Bradley Sr. comprise the committee.

It was announced that the recent membership drive netted 20 new members

It was announced that films from the Department of Ohio Water and National Resourses will be available for the Nov. 26 meeting.

Lunch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Gale Williams.

Members of the Executive committee will meet before the banquet Nov. 12 for a business session.

As we see it

By LYNN BROWNE & GLENN SCHOTTEN

The only thing dry about the district games on tap for this weekend will be the turf — unless the miracle of rain occurs between now and kickoff Friday night.

Not since the football season opened have more games popped up which, like a two-headed monster, could go either way.

As the weekly mayhem continues and gridirons are converted into dust bowls, the teams at the top are having to strive desperately to hang on to their high ranking, while the "trailers" are always lurking in the shadows, scheming to knock off the kingpin.

Current undisputed leader in the Tri - County League—the magnificent Leopards from Louisville—is just in that position of vulnerability to attack by rival and rising Columbiana. Lillick's Leopards could be a sated beast, after devouring the Blue Devils, last week. And satisfaction does not make a fighter.

The Clippers doubtless have been pointing for the match with Louisville ever since last year when the Leopards snatched away the championship, 20-8, relegating the Columbianans to second place.

But despite the possibility of a letdown after a great win, Louisville, sparked by sensational backs Bob Gladieux and Dale Minor, will overcome all, sweeping aside the Clippers, main obstacle in the path of its second straight league championship.

The Leopards leap over the Clippers by two touchdowns.

An even closer game is shaping up at Austintown Fitch who hosts the Canfield unbeatens. With all due regard to the strength of Steel Valley League teams, we favor the Cardinals to nip Fitch by two points.

The same-faced Lisbon Blue Devils, scarred by the Leopards' slashing, will be out for blood and revenge when they tangle with the Leetonia Bears, who have been worse than disappointing. Peruchetti and the county seat gang should vanquish the Bears in easy fashion by at least four touchdowns.

The Trojans of Sebring will fall to marauding Minerva, who is still in the thick of the battle for a high berth in Tri-County League end-of-season rankings.

Our spotter in Greenville, Pa., reports that team is not extra strong this year, so Springfield Local should master the out-of-staters by a good two TD's.

A battle of the big ones is set for Friday night at East Liverpool who hosts steel - strong Weirton. With some of the luster worn off the Columbiana County eleven after the Youngstown Rayen defeat, we favor Weirton by one TD.

At least four of Saturday's jousts will be some of the most nip-and-tuck affairs of the season.

Although Crestview will be at home when it hosts Western Reserve, the Berlin Center school will edge the Rebels by a bare two points.

Other close matches will be West Branch vs. Beaver Local, East Palestine vs. Poland and United vs. Southern Local. In these arenas the victors should be West Branch, East Palestine, and United Local, all by one TD apiece.

Greenford should win its first game in eight starts when the squad travels to Atwater. The Bobcats are our pick by a TD.

Two games, if records are dependable, should be romps or near-romps. McDonald will easily defeat North Lima and Lowellville will have a field day when they host Jackson-Milton.

INTRODUCING OUR NEW DOUBLE EAGLE
with LifeGuard Safety Spare

GO in spite of blowouts, punctures heat and wear... with LifeGuard Safety Spare!

- LIFEGUARD SAFETY SPARE is a complete inner tire—fully inflated, with tread, cord and bead. Keeps GO-GO-ing even if outer tire is damaged.

Plus

- NEW VYTACORD gives this new Double Eagle added protection against heat! Tires made with Vytacord run cooler and are stronger than tires made with Nylon or Rayon.
- WIDEST TREAD MADE. Wrap-around design. As it wears, puts more and more tread-width on the road. Made with Tufsyn. Outwears any other auto tire made.
- NEW RADIAL WHITEWALL DESIGN gives high-styling to your car. Distinctive. Because Double Eagle is the finest tire man can make and money can buy.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: I have pricked my fingers on curtain stretchers so many times that I no longer use them. When I wash a thin panel, wether starched or otherwise, I seretch a blanket on the carpet in the living room, place a bed sheet over it, and get out my package of straight pins.

I lay the thin panel down on the sheet and stick the pins into the blanket on the floor. This will hold beautifully and you will not hurt your fingers.

Another good thing about this, is you can use the edge of the sheet as a guide and your curtain will be perfectly straight. Thus, no warped edges as when ironing on an ironing board.

If your curtain needs further starch, either make your own and put it in a spray bottle, or use the prepared spray-type starch.

This can be beautifully done while the curtain is on the floor as the starch gets on more evenly, plus the fact that any leftover will hit the sheet, which can be washed later.

For those who do not starch their curtains but find they get a little dry while being stretched with this method, they may put plain water in a plunger-type bottle and damper the curtains slightly. I found this to be the best method so far.

YOUR FRIED.

DEAR HELOISE: Whenever using nuts in cakes or cookies, I put them into a cup or bowl of water before placing them in the batter. Many of the little pieces of shell will come floating to the top of the water and can easily be skimmed off. No more broken teeth, or bitter taste, when biting into a piece of black walnut in an ice box cookie. . . .

FARMER'S WIFE.

DEAR HELOISE: I remove rust stains from my bathroom fixtures and kitchen sink by making a paste out of cream of tarter and peroxide. Apply, let stand a while and then wash. This is commercial peroxide, not medicated. The medicated is not strong enough for stubborn stains but will work on new stains that are not deep set.

Sometimes the belt buckles on washable fabrics become dirty and to save washing the whole belt just take a toothbrush, dip in any liquid detergent and scrub the buckle with a toothbrush. Rinse with warm water and hang up to dry. The belt stays like new and the buckle is clean again.

DEAR FOLKS: Many people have written in that our discovery to renew typewriter ribbons is fantabulous! It saves money, time and trying to think of buynig another one.

So we will repeat this again for those of you who missed it and those of you who have requested the method:

One of our readers wrote that she removed the spool of ribbon from her typewriter and put some oil on it and left it for a few days. She said it "wrote" again

Thinking what oil might do to the rubber and all . . . I used glycerine. It is marvelous. I removed the spool, put a few drops of glycerine on the side of the ribbon so it would soak in well and run down into the other side. I then wrapped it in heavy foil and put it in a drawer for nearly a month. (I am sure now that it only takes a few days from the reports we have.)

After replacing the ribbon . . . not only was it new looking but actually typed better! It was really black. We used this on both nylon and other types.

And that's the story of rejuvenating our typewriter ribbons! Don't we wish we could find something to rejuvenate us?

HELOISE.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

Regarding the letter from the Mahoning County citizen suggesting I give credit to all police officers. There perhaps are very few people who respect good police officers any more than I do. Among my friends are a lot of fine men who protect the good citizens of the community.

Out of my great respect for good officers I am forced to express my contempt for the other kind. It takes more than a uniform, a badge and a gun to make a policeman. It takes a mighty good man to wear that uniform and badge.

With the help and support of the good citizens of the community our policemen can do an even better job for us.

I am sure out of the many policemen in Mahoning County they too have a lot of very nice ones.

10th Anniversary Marked By Columbiana Historians

By MRS. CHARLES WRIGHT
(Phone IV 2-4846)

COLUMBIANA — Fifty members and guests, including several charter members, attended the 10th anniversary meeting of the Historical Society of Columbiana and Fairfield Counties Monday evening at Grace United Church of Christ.

Roy Guy, president of the organization, presided.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Miss Mae Frye and the financial report was submitted by Willard Ferrall. A plaque, commemorating her years of devoted service to the organization, was presented to Miss Leila Beard, who served as the Society's president for six years. George Seederly made the presentation.

Leo Holloway gave a resume of the beginning of the organization and the activities in which the last 10 years. Holloway noted that the group was started through the efforts of the Community Service Committee of the local Rotary Club, of which E. B Dillon was chairman.

The program featured duets entitled "Whispering Hope" and "Come Where My Love Lies Deaming," by Mrs. John Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Lester Allison. Accompaniest was Mrs. Elmer Coyle.

Guest speaker was George D. Beelen, Youngstown University instructor, who spoke on the subject, "Critical Analysis of the Good Old Days."

Following the program, refreshments were served by Mrs. Herrmann and Mrs. Elmer Coyle.

An interesting selection of antique items, belonging to members of the Society, was also on display.

A social hour concluded the evening's activities.

COACHES OF THE opposing football teams playing Friday night at Louisville, George Lillick of Louisville, and George Fisher of Columbiana, discussed their team's sportsmanship, the players and their possibilities at Monday's Rotary Club meeting.

Louisville is generally favored to win, having been the victor of seven games by a large margin.

Introduction of the coaches was made by Richard Berryman. There were four visiting Rotarians present; Donald Mehl of Youngstown; Wilbur Whan of Lisbon, and Harry Waller and Dr. F. R. Crowgey of Salem.

Next week, Robert Bertelson, program chairman, will present Edwin Altomare, who will discuss the club's 4-Way Test Program.

Two members of the Citizen's Committee for Better Schools will also be present to discuss the 3-Mill Levy.

EVERETT WARRICK, guest speaker at Monday's Kiwanis meeting, discussed his and Mrs. Warrick's experiences as participants in a Glidden Tour, which featured antique autos which are restored to perfect condition by the owners. The Warricks made the tour in a 1915 Monroe, of which there are only 12 remaining in the United States.

The one-week tour, which included 268 antique autos, covered 600 miles, and began in Rochester, N.Y., Sept. 22. Next year's tour will center in Colorado. Warrick, who was introduced by Gus Isakkson, illustrated his talk with slides.

There were two visiting Kiwanians, George T. McKinstry of East Palestine, and Lee Kanery of Columbiana.

At next week's meeting, members of the Citizen's Committee for Better Schools will talk on the 3-mill levy.
